Yanks Pursue Fleeing Foes After Hard Vietnam Fighting

Worst Gunning In 3 Months Near Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — Helicopter-borne U.S. Air Cavalrymen leapfrogged along the Cambodian border today in pursuit of enemy troops fleeing to their sanctuaries after fierce Thanksgiving Day fighting.

U.S. headquarters said 25 enemy soldiers were killed in one battle during which helicopters and Air Force bombers sprayed the area with machine gun fire, rockets, bombs and cannons. No U.S. casualties were reported.

The new action raised to 288 the number of enemy troops killed in the last two days and to 426 the number of enemy slain since the first of the week in major fighting along the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

U.S. losses for the same period were 26 killed and 54 wounded. South Vietnam lost 10 dead and 20 wounded.

Maintain Pressure

It was the heaviest fighting in the area since mid-September when a drive by the Communist command against the border provinces was beaten back.

The U.S. Command said constant pressure is being maintained on the 15,000 to 20,000 enemy troops believed deployed along the 100-mile stretch of Cambodian border.

In Laos, a country through which North Vietnam funnels the bulk of its supplies and troops along the Ho Chi Minh trail, to South Vietnam the Cabinet was called into emergency session today.

The group met to discuss reports of impending attack by 30,000 North Vietnamese troops on Attopeu and Saravane, two towns in the corner formed by Cambodia and northern South Vietnam. A Laotian army general said the move would follow attacks on Ban Thateng, 25 miles south of Saravane on Wednesday.

Helicopter Loss

The officer said Hanoi has ordered the attack on the towns so that they can serve as transit stations, presumably for eventual movement back into South Vietnam's central highlands.

In a delayed report U.S. headquarters said a third American helicopter was shot down Wednesday during a series of a half a dozen fights 15 miles north of Saigon. Three Americans aboard were killed.

A U.S. spokesman said that since Jan. 1, 1961, a total of 942 U.S. helicopters have been downed by enemy ground fire in South Vietnam.

For the first time since the Nov. 1 bombing halt of North Vietnam there were no overnight shellings of district towns or provincial capitals, allied headquarters said. The calm in the demilitarized zone continued for the third straight day.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 10 light mortar attacks were made against military installations killing one policeman and wounding 15 soldiers.

Plane Crashes, Boy Finds Help

EUREKA, Utah (AP) — As his parents and sister lay pinned in the wreckage of their airplane Thanksgiving eve, 15-year-old William Rigby set off into a snowstorm to find help.

"My dad was pinned underneath the instrument panel," William, the son of Beverly Hills, Calif., heart surgeon Dr. Elmer C. Rigby Jr., said Thursday, "My sister was caught beneath two chairs. Mom was trapped beneath the wreckage. I knew I had to get some help."

He freed himself from the wreckage of the twin-engine plane and started walking—in the wrong direction.

Then he spotted headlights on U.S. 50-6 and turned toward the road. He had walked about four miles over snow-covered ground.

An unidentified Nevada motorist stopped, picked up the boy, carefully marked his mileage, drove 10 miles north to Eureka and led rescuers directly to the spot where he picked up the youth, said Sheriff A. Duane Sperry.

"It was a good thing, too, because I think those people would have frozen to death if we'd had to search for the plane," Sperry said.

Officers followed the boy's tracks back to the wreckage.

"The plane appeared to have come down hard, rolled on its side and finally came to rest on its top. It was literally torn apart by the impact," the sheriff said.

The boy's mother, Penelope, 46, was dead on arrival at Juab County Hospital.

His 53-year-old father was in poor condition today at University Hospital in Salt Lake City. The prominent physician, one of the first to perform open heart surgery in the Los Angeles area, suffered chest injuries, broken legs, back and head injuries. Nikola Rigby, 16, was in satisfactory condition with a broken leg.

Another daughter, Judith, 21, would have been on the flight from Van Nuys airport to Salt Lake, to spend Thanksgiving with Dr. Rigby's parents, but she missed a connection in traveling from Berkeley to Beverly Hills. She attends the University of California.

William told officers the flight began in good weather. But snow and fog closed in and the plane began icing up.

"Dad decided to circle for a few minutes. Then he said he was going to make an emergency landing," William told Sheriff Sperry.

Sperry said the doctor apparently mistook a plowed field for a road about a mile west of U.S. 50-6. The plane touched down, hit a depression and flipped over.

JANET YOUNG, 16, Boise, Idaho, treated for five years for what was thought to be asthma, was released Tuesday night from Denver's National Jewish Hospital where doctors removed from her windpipe the plastic flower that had been causing the coughing and wheezing since she accidentally swallowed it. Vial she is holding contains the troublesome Lily of the Valley. Janet was breathing normally when she left for a reunion in Boise with her family. Flower at right was parting gift from other patients. (AP Wirephoto)

TV Musicians Working Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television musicians are playing again. Workers at state mental hospitals have returned to the wards, and Long Island Rail Road engineers are back on the track. A labor peace? Not yet—now utility workers are set to walk out.

New Yorkers, who have already weathered police and firemen slowdowns and teachers and sanitationmen's strikes in 1968, braced today for a Sunday walkout by 20,000 workers at the Consolidated Edison Co.

Charles F. Luce, Con Ed board chairman, told 9,000,000 customers Thursday to expect "less than normal service" if the walkout occurs and appealed to the public to limit electrical usage during peak demand hours from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Luce said 4,000 supervisors would attempt to provide "essential" gas and electrical service for an indefinite period. "We are confident we can operate the system," he said, but added, "It will be a challenge."

The workers, members of Local 1-2 of the AFL-CIO Utility Workers of America, surprised their leaders and Con Ed officials by rejecting a proposed two-year contract Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the commuting challenge for 90,000 daily riders on the Long Island Rail Road appeared ended. Line officials said they expected "full service" but warned of possible delays due to new timetables.

A spokesman attributed the new trouble to problems in getting the men and machinery matched up. "We just didn't get all the guys in the same place with all the equipment," he said.

Nonprofessional workers who struck four state mental hospitals, disrupting the lives of thousands of patients for more than a week, began returning to the wards Thursday.

State officials said they would begin early next week to effect the return of 4,942 patients who had to be transferred to other institutions.

Finally, a 28-day strike of musicians against the three major radio and television networks ended Thursday with the announcement that members had voted 270-263 to accept a new two-year contract.

The vote conducted Wednesday in New York, Miami and Los Angeles ended the walkout by 800 musicians against the National Broadcasting Co., the American Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO, won a raise in staff musicians' base pay to $280.70 a week, up $23, and an hourly overtime rate hike to $4.90. They had sought an immediate increase of $64 a week.

Fierce Storm Lashes Midwest

By The Associated Press

A fierce November storm swirled into the northeast today after lashing the Midwest with snow, sleet, heavy rain and wind.

The storm, which crept out of Mexico early in the week, then dawdled over Texas storing up moisture and power, galloped across the Southern plains, the Midwest and Ohio Valley Thanksgiving Day.

The holiday weather effects were numerous and widespread: flood-swollen rivers and streams in middle Tennessee, snow-coated landscape and highways intermittently from Missouri to Michigan. Rains measuring more than 6 inches swamped Tennessee from the Mississippi River to the Cumberland Mountains Thursday. After a day of warnings of possibly serious flooding on the Harpeth River near Nashville, the Weather Bureau stopped its flood bulletins late Thursday and indicated the threat had passed.

Heavy rains ranged northward across Illinois and South and West into Mississippi and Arkansas, where some flooding was reported.

Snow mixed with sleet made holiday travel treacherous north of the rain area. Two to 5 inches of snow whitened the area from northeastern Missouri into central Lower Michigan. Up to 8 inches covered some northern Lower Michigan communities.

High winds accompanied the daylong downpours across the Midwest, and into the Northeast today. Gale warnings continued on all the Great Lakes and were extended to include the Northern Atlantic Coast.

The winds tore down part of the steel superstructure for a high school auditorium being built north of Indianapolis. Damage was estimated at nearly a quarter-million dollars. Eastward in Ohio, the gusts knocked out power in many parts of Cincinnati and smashed numerous store display windows.

Today's Chuckle

The trouble these days is that there's no arrest for the wicked.

Hruska Seeking Party Whip Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nebraska's Roman L. Hruska plans a hard campaign for the post of assistant Republican leader, or party whip, in the Senate, but says he doesn't want "a bloody field with bodies lying around."

"I am not standing idly by. I am seeking the post," Hruska, just back from a trip abroad, told an interviewer.

The whip job was opened up by the primary defeat of California's Thomas H. Kuchel, a liberal-moderate Republican. The only other announced candidate for the job is Pennsylvania's Hugh Scott, also a liberal-moderate.

Scott notified his colleagues by letter that he wants the job, but other than that his campaigning has been behind the scenes.

While Hruska was in Europe last week, his supporters said they already had commitments from 23 of the 42 Republican senators in the new Congress—more than enough to insure his election.

Scott's backers disagree, saying the contest is still wide open.

Hanoi Charges U.S. Bombed North Of DMZ

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam charged today the United States carried out new bombing attacks deep in its territory Thursday and demanded an end of what it said "were acts of war."

American comment on the North Vietnamese charge was not immediately available.

Reports from Saigon have carried no mention of bombing attacks north of the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Vietnam.

A spokesman for Hanoi's delegation at the Paris peace talks asserted the American bombings had occurred for the third straight day Thursday.

"The United States' acts of war are in violation of national sovereignty and security of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam," he said.

40 Miles North

The spokesman charged that three F4 jets of the U.S. Air Force dropped explosives and fragmentation bombs on four villages and hamlets in the Province of Quang Binh. One of the villages attacked, he said, is more than 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The United States has claimed the right to send planes, under armed escort, over North Vietnam for reconnaissance. It also has warned the North Vietnamese that U.S. authorities will not hesitate to defend Americans imperiled by hostile actions or to go to the rescue of the crews of downed aircraft.

The North Vietnamese have disputed these claimed American rights.

Regardless of that dispute, the spokesman asserted the Americans attacked Thursday and the action was in no way connected with rescue operations.

"We protest against these acts of war, and we demand that they be stopped," the spokesman said in a statement issued by the North Vietnamese delegation to the Peace talks.

Talk To NLF

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front issued a statement saying: "If the United States wants to settle the South Vietnamese problem by peaceful means, it should start conversations with the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam ... The puppet administration of Saigon, which is only an instrument in the service of American aggression, represents nobody."

The front reiterated its stand that it had agreed to take part in the Paris talks as an independent party, on equal footing with other parties.

The South Vietnamese government, meanwhile was reported preparing a peace plan to be submitted to the expanded talks when they get under way.

Scranton Given Israel Mission

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon will send former Gov. William S. Scranton of Pennsylvania to Israel and neighboring Arab nations next week to bring himself up to the minute on the potentially explosive Mideast situation.

It was learned late Thursday that Nixon will send Scranton on the trip to gather information Nixon will need as chief executive. Among the Arab countries that are expected to be on the itinerary are the United Arab Republic, Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Iran.

The fact that this was Nixon's second overseas assignment for Scranton since the beginning of the presidential campaign added new impetus to speculation that Scranton might be tapped for either secretary of state or U.S. ambassador to the United Nations in the new administration.

Scranton, after returning from a European fact-finding mission for Nixon, said he had no further aspirations for official positions. But he steered clear of declaring he would not accept a high post were one offered.

In 1964, Scranton made an unsuccessful effort to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Aides said Nixon is meeting today with staff advisers—not callers from outside the inner circle. Next week the flow of appointments with outsiders will resume—before the president-elect takes off Thursday for a few days in California that will encompass an address before the Republican Governors Association meeting at Palm Springs.

The Nixon family made a flying visit to Washington Thursday to share Thanksgiving with ailing former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his family.

Nation Traffic Toll Climbing

By The Associated Press

The nation's Thanksgiving holiday traffic death toll climbed steadily today as the long weekend approached the halfway mark.

The count since the four-day weekend began at 6 p.m. Wednesday reached 198 early today. The survey of highway deaths continues to midnight Sunday. During a recent nonholiday weekend of equal length, The Associated Press counted 530 traffic fatalities.

The National Safety Council did not estimate what the weekend toll might be. It classifies Thanksgiving Day as a stay-at-home holiday which produces no unusual traffic volume.

Multiple-death accidents boosted the toll Thursday. Five members of an Alabama family died in a two-car collision near Scottsboro, Ala. A similar crash near Elryia, Ohio, also claimed five lives—a couple from Michigan, one of them children and two young brothers from Ohio.

Generally bad driving weather, an assortment of heavy rain, snow and sleet, prevailed Thursday in sections of the south and much of the midwest.

The Thanksgiving weekend traffic count a year ago was 685. The worst highway death toll for any Thanksgiving period was 748 in 1966. That also set a record for any holiday weekend.

Thanksgiving Ad

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A soldier in Vietnam placed this classified ad on Thanksgiving in the Birmingham News: "To Frances from Saigon:

"As we spend this 19th Thanksgiving Day of our marriage 10,000 miles apart, I wish the world to know what a wonderful wife and mother you are.

"Your husband."

The GI did not sign his name.

Decision On Closing Today

Borings Reveal Mine Is Deadly

MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Another "major explosion" ripped through No. 9 today, spewing smoke and flame from the mine's Llewellyn portal near the area where 78 men have been trapped nine days.

The early-morning blast, the 16th since the initial explosion Nov. 20, sent flames and a column of white smoke spiraling above the entrance.

Officials directing efforts to rescue the entombed miners promised a "very, very comprehensive evaluation" of the situation within the sprawling mine today.

Drillings made by boring through to the deep caverns below produced air samples showing high concentrations of deadly carbon monoxide and dangerous methane gas.

Peter P. Ferretti, a vice president of Consolidation Coal Co., said the latest testings Thursday night were taken from an area where the men had been trained to go in case of disaster.

He described the testing area as a "very critical place." The carbon monoxide level was 50 times human capability while the methane concentraton was 26.4 per cent. He said there is danger of explosion when methane reaches a level of between 5 and 15 per cent.

Ferretti said "we will make some decision" after the evaluation today.

Ferretti, asked Thursday night if the drill sites showed the same deadly air samples would mean sealing the mine, replied: "I can't comment on that. This, of course, is a possibility. All the information at this time doesn't look good. It doesn't look encouraging."

The 78 men were trapped Nov. 20 when a blast tore through the mine, owned by the Mountaineer Coal Co., a subsidiary of Consolidation. Twenty-one other miners escaped.

Families and friends of the trapped men continued their waiting at a little church near the mine.

Hunter Is Dead:

Train Runs Over Soo Line Worker Near Manistique

MANISTIQUE — A Manistique man was struck by a 76-unit freight train of the Soo Line Railroad Thursday afternoon in Thompson Township and was pronounced dead at the scene by Schoolcraft County Coroner Robert Broullire.

Pending an autopsy report, it is not known if the victom was killed by the train or if death resulted from other causes. The mishap occurred at 12:05 p. m.

Clifford Barber, 56, who lived at 330 Schoolcraft Ave., was sighted lying across the tracks by a Soo Line engineer and brakeman in Section 21, Thompson Township, about three miles west of Manistique.

Francis Douville, Escanaba brakeman, and Douglas Wesolowski, Gladstone engineer, told investigating Trooper John Wilson of the Manistique State Police Post that they saw a form across the tracks and applied the full brakes of the train when they realized it was a man.

Soo Line Worker

Both men said they saw no indication of movement by the victim as the westbound train approached.

Barber was a forty year employe of the Soo Line Railroad, had been hunting in the area and presumably had killed a deer just before the accident.

The body was removed to Escanaba for an autopsy Thursday night by Dr. Norman Berry, pathologist at St. Francis Hospital.

A complete autopsy report is expected on Monday, according to Coroner Broullire.

Clifford C. Barber was born May 31, 1912, in Galesburg, Ill., and came to the Upper Peninsula when he was one year old.

He moved to Manistique in January, 1955, from Gould City. He was married to the former Mary Vogel in Engadine on Nov. 30, 1935, and was a member of St. Francis de Sales Church. He was also a member of the BMWS Railroad Brotherhood, and a section crew employe of the Soo Line Railroad for 40 years.

Funeral Monday

Survivors include his wife, Mary, five sons, Daniel and James of Manistique; Joseph, Minot, N. D.; John, Rochester, Mich.; and Clifford Jr., of Ypsilanti; two daughters, Mrs. Willard (Betty) Holt, Sault Ste. Marie and Mrs. Kenneth (Dorothy) Thompson of Newberry.

Two brothers, Clarence, a twin, of Gladstone, and Fred, Traverse City; three sisters, Mrs. Isreal Selby, Rexton, Mrs. Floyd Leach of Newberry, and Mrs. William Brockman of Jonesville; and 10 grandchildren, also survive.

Friends may call at the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home beginning Sunday at 4 p. m. Funeral services will be held from St. Francis de Sales Church on Monday at 9 a. m., with burial in Fairview Cemetery.

Liturgical prayers will be held at the funeral home Sunday at 8 p. m.

Alvin Karpis To Get Out After 33 Years In Pen

By The Associated Press

Now, he's a 62-year-old convict waiting to be released on parole after serving 33 years of a life sentence in federal prisons. He'll be released Jan. 14, then deported to his native Canada to work as a clerk typist.

During his time in prison he's advised youthful offenders, "I was public Enemy No. 1—look what it did for me." Prison authorities regarded him as a model prisoner.

One official said, "He straightened out a lot of punks both here and at Alcatraz." Karpis spent 25 years on the San Francisco Bay Island penitentiary before being transferred here when Alcatraz was closed.

The Karpis-Barker gang that included Ma Barker, cut a path of crime across the heart of the nation. It was linked with 10 killings and two kidnapings between 1931 and 1936.

Karpis was dubbed Public Enemy No. 1 after wealthy Minnesota beer executive William Hamm Jr. was kidnaped and released unharmed following a ransom payment of $100,000.

Karpis' 1936 arrest in New Orleans was made by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, accompanied by other FBI men.

Looking toward the future, Karpis said when he's released he wants to disappear from the public limelight—to lead a quiet life.

"I know I'll make good," he said.

Boy, 2, Nearly Suffocates On Piece Of Sucker

John Chenier, 2, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chenier of Flat Rock, is in good condition again today after nearly suffocating early Thursday afternoon.

The family was at the Oliver Chenier's when John strangled on what was believed to be a piece of sucker. The boy's uncles — Robert and Francis Chenier — gave the child resuscitation as he was rushed to the doctor.

"He is fine today. The x-rays show that whatever it was that caused him to choke is gone," reported John's mother.

Three Injured When Car Hits Telephone Pole

James D. Ellisor, 45, Connie Ellisor, 16, and Jean, 2, of 1322 N. 22nd St., were injured Thursday afternoon in Escanaba when the car, driven by Ellisor, struck a telephone pole at 12th Ave. N., and 21st St.

Police said that Ellisor told them he was attempting to turn the car when he reached to prevent Patti Ellisor, 1 year old, from falling off the car seat. His car went out of control and struck the pole. Patti was unhurt in the crash.

All of the injured suffered lacerations of the forehead, and Connie also has a severe chin cut. Police ticketed Ellisor for failing to exercise due care.

Violations Up:

Hunting Mishaps

Officers from the Dept. of Natural Resources and State Police were keeping fingers crossed today as the 1968 deer season entered its final hours.

Officers reported only three hunters have been wounded in the Upper Peninsula during the current season, lowest total in years.

There have been no fatal gunshot accidents.

A year ago, two hunters in the Upper Peninsula died in gunfire accidents and nine others were wounded.

Officials reported generally only residents of the Upper Peninsula in the field today and the legal kill of deer down an estimated 10 to 15 per cent over last year. A lighter kill of bear was blamed on early hibernation.

Violations Up

About the only increase in hunting activity reported in the Upper Peninsula has been in the number of violations, up to 435 this year from a comparable 307 last year.

In the Escanaba District, a total of 105 arrests have been made.

Latest violations reported were:

George J. Shracta, 37, of Rte. 1, Escanaba, charged with unlawful possession of a doe deer not properly tagged, fined $50 and $7.30 court costs by Municipal Judge James Fitzharris, with $25 of the fine suspended;

Jay E. Cook, 41, of 121 N. 20th St., illegal possession of doe deer, fined $100 and assessed $100 liquadated damages and $7.30 court costs before Fitzharris with deer hunting privileges revoked for the remainder of 1968, 1969 and 1970 and five day jail sentence suspended;

Gaylord M. Larson, 41, of Rte. 1, Escanaba, possession of doe deer not tagged, $50 fine and $7.30 costs.

Shracta, Cook and Larson all were arrested at the same camp on the Stonington Peninsula, officers reported.

Bridge Count Down

John J. Sarasin, 17, of Rte. 1, Cornell, was fined $50 and assessed liquadated damages of $100 and court costs of $7.30 after pleading guilty to a charge of killing a buck deer with the aid of an artificial light. Deer hunting privileges were revoked for 1968, 1969, 1970. A juvenile with Sarasin will be cited into Probate Court, officers reported.

Other violations include:

Herbert J. Stumpf, 27, Rte. 2, Bark River, $25 fine and $7.30 costs or 15 days in jail for transporting a loaded rifle in an automobile;

Duane R. Hamelin, 38, of 1107 S. 23rd St., $25 fine and $7.30 costs for transporting a loaded gun in an automobile;

Leo R. Hazen, 44, and his son, Terry, 17, each $25 and $7.30 costs for transporting a loaded gun in an automobile.

Officials at the Mackinac Bridge reported a total of 7,623 have been taken south out of the Upper Peninsula this year, compared with 9,107 a year ago. The number of bear taken across the bridge from the Upper Peninsula has dropped from 162 a year ago to 68.

The season closes with the end of shooting Saturday.

Nighttime Auto Parking Limit Effective Dec. 1

Motorists may not park their vehicles on Escanaba city streets for more than one-half hour between the hours of 2 a. m. and 7 a. m. effective Dec. 1.

Police Chief Richard Frederick directed attention to the city ordinance which limits parking during the winter months, so that snow plowing crews and equipment can keep streets cleared.

The ordinance is effective Dec. 1 and will be enforced, the chief said.

Traditional Day At LBJ Ranch

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — If President Johnson regretted that this was his last Thanksgiving as chief executive, it didn't show as he gathered family and friends at the ranch for the traditional feast and some unusual —even for Johnson—churchgoing.

The head of the Johnson clan was relaxed and smiling as he took the wheel himself to pilot a station wagon full of family, friends and staff to church Thursday. It was the second of three services he went to in 24-hour span.

Then the President posed for pictures on the sunny ranch lawn with Mrs. Johnson, daughters Luci Nugent and Lynda Robb, grandson Lyn and No. 1 presidential pet, Yuki the mongrel.

Lynda's month-old daughter Lucinda was excused from the session for a nap.

At the morning service at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, 15 miles away in Fredericksburg, the Johnsons heard prayers for the families of trapped miners, Americans at war and for the President himself.

The vicar, the Rev. William E. Campbell, singled out "the families of suffering in the mine tragedy" in West Virginia, "those serving their country in Vietnam," and then told his congregation of 50:

"Let us pray for our land, for our President, and for the peace of the whole world."

The President went to St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church at nearby Stonewall Thursday night where the Rev. W. W. Schneider said "I am very glad you came to help us pray for peace."

With The Deer Hunters

Andrew Yanitsky, 1802 10th Ave. S., shot a spike buck weighing about 125-pounds Thursday near the Northland Camp where he and his son, Danny were hunting. Danny, luckless so far this year, is continuing the hunt.

Guests finishing out the deer hunting season at the Ned Short camp on the Whitefish River were Pat Short, Owen and Doug Short of East Lansing and Pete and Dave Short of Escanaba.

7 Bodies Found In Capsized Boat

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The bodies of seven men were found entombed Thursday in the work boat Triple Crown on the floor of the Pacific Ocean. Two others were sought.

The men still missing, unlike the others, were on the deck working when the vessel suddenly capsized and sank Monday.

Six deep sea divers, making five trips, recovered the seven bodies from inside the sunken hull of the 174-foot boat resting in 250 feet of Santo Barbara cannel water.

Loggers' Comp Reduced In State

The Michigan Workmens Compensation Rating Bureau of Detroit has reduced the cost of workmen's compensation insurance on loggers to $20.16 per $100 of payroll effective Dec. 1, Employers Insurance of Wausau reports.

The present rate is $27.43 and the $7.27 saving per $100 of payroll is welcome in Michigan's forest industry, but Wisconsin has a rate under $10, and most Upper Peninsula wood is sold in Wisconsin and much of it in competition with Wisconsin wood.

The comp rate on sawmill workers is now $10.87 and it will be increased to $11.22 on Dec. 1.

The Dec. 1 changes are based on accident claim experience of the insurance underwriters in the years 1966 and 1967.

In Michigan loggers can deduct 20 per cent of their payroll from compensation computation if it is paid to chainsaw operators. This reduces such comp to about $17 per $100.

Part of the reason for the logger comp reduction is that the new practice of Lower Peninsula pulpwood mills to require their wood suppliers to have compensation insurance on their woods workers is beginning to show up in reduced accident claims. The mills pay producers for their wood and in addition pay a premium for the compensation insurance.

Methodist Negro Heads National Race Commission

The Rev. Woddie W. White, Detroit, a member of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church, was elected general secretary of the newly formed national Commission on Religion and Race with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The Commission came into being with the Uniting Conference of the United Methodist Church in Dallas, Texas, last April. Rev. White a Negro, is the first general secretary of the commission, which is an outgrowth of the merging of the former Evangelical United Brethren and former Methodist churches into the United Methodist Church, now comprising 11-million members.

A graduate of the Boston University School of Sacred Theology, Rev. White has served Methodist churches in Bedford and Worcester, Mass., came to Detroit and in 1967 was appointed "urban missioner" for the Detroit Metropolitan Coordinating Committee where he assisted in educational programs on racial matters with various interfaith organizations. He will assume his duties in Washington in mid-December.

Bishop Dwight E. Loder of Detroit, spiritual leader of Michigan Methodism, was recently elected vice-president of the general Board of Missions of the United Methodist Church and also president of the National Division of that board.

He will head the work of home missions and church extension in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands through 16 major program units serving in such fields as new church development, urban work, community centers, mission schools and hospitals.

The Michigan Area, over which Bishop Loder presides, includes the West Michigan and Detroit annual conferences with 900 churches and 318,000 members.

Princess Wins Her Court Case

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Princess Margaret di Niscemi, American-born, won her case against a movie Thursday when a court ordered that the family name of her late husband be changed in a story about a Mafia plot.

The Princess, nee Hirsch, of Philadelphia, won a ban against the Italian-made movie "Oeglio Vedova" (Better a Widow) on Nov. 18 when a court ordered showings suspended in Sicily "to avoid prejudice to the di Niscemi family."

The final court ruling ordered that the film's "Prince di Niscemi" take the name "Prince Mascani," and said showings could resume when the change was made.

Princess di Uiscemi met and married the Sicilian prince in America where he once spent much of his time.

Sawmills Hum For Lumber Market

By JEAN WORTH

The hottest sawlog market in years has developed in the Upper Peninsula, but pulpwood still is looking for buyers.

The Conservation Department's report that its cutting permits reveal an active demand for sawtimber is borne out by a check on the trade.

Kimberly Clark Corp. is operating its sawmills at Marenisco, Michigamme and Newberry day and night, on two shifts. And it has been looking for a sawmill in the mid-Upper Peninsula to fill out its U. P. string and give it a fourth strategic sawing facility in relation to its timber. It is the largest owner of forest lands in the U. P., with more than 400,000 acres.

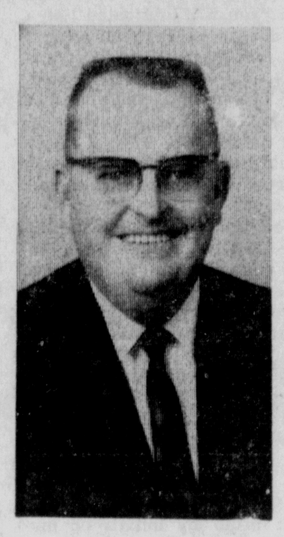

The lumber market is described as "real good" and Kimberly Clark has been buying about half the log needs to keep its sawmills busy and supplying the other half from its own forests. It reports "We can sell all we can saw," with hardwood lumber specially in demand. K-C has a captive market for much of its softwood lumber production in its own paper mills for pallets, skid covers and other wood needs.

Kimberly Clark has closed its sulphite pulp mills at Munising, Niagara and Kimberly, Wis., and is operating only groundwood pulp mills at Niagara and Kimberly, to which it is shipping "a little popple." It woul dlike to sell pulpwood from its forests to other paper manufactures but has had little success recently.

There's a lot of wood of all kinds available, and quite a few sawlogs cut in the woods, but trucking conditions are very poor in the Upper Peninsula, with woods roads soft and rutted by pulpwood harvest and hunter traffic. Cold weather that freezes the roads will solve the problem and ease the urgency of the demand for sawlogs.

Manistique Pulp & Paper Co. arranged for an emergency supply of sawlogs in the eastern Upper Peninsula for U. S. Plywood Corp.'s mill at Gaylord in the Lower Peninsula. The timber is being trucked to the mill, a costly process because of transportation expense. There is sawlog timber in the Lower Peninsula, but loggers there are more used to producing pulpwood.

Utility Gives Erva Promotion

Gerald H. Erva

Gerald H. Erva, assistant purchasing agent of the Upper Peninsula Power Co., has been promoted to purchasing agent, announces Russell F. Hoyer, president.

Erva, a native of Hancock, was first employed by U. P. Power on Oct. 20, 1952 as a storekeeper in the Houghton District and in October of 1963 and was advanced to the position of general storekeeper. He was promoted to assistant purchasing agent in October of 1967. During his years of service with the Purchasing and Stores Department of the Company, Mr. Erva has acquired a wide range of experience in all phases of the operation of this department and is well qualified for his new position.

Erva is responsible for the procurement of all materials and equipment necessary to the company's operations and construction program, aggregating over $9 million per year including approximately $5 million for coal used at the three steam generating stations.

Erva and his wife, Mary, the former Mary Eade of Hancock, with their son, Raymond, reside at 403 W. Houghton Ave., Houghton.

League Hears Reports:

Courts' Service To Youth Told

Dean Shipman, Michael Miketinac and Michael Lalich presented a panel discussion on various aspects of judicial services as they relate to youth to the Escanaba League of Women Voters at its membership meeting on Monday.

The League is studying Michigan courts as they relate to children and juveniles.

Shipman, newly elected judge of the Delta District Court, explained the structure and functions of the new court, which was created to complete Michigan's program of court reform. In Delta County the district court will replace the justice of the peace and the Escanaba Municipal Court.

The court, Shipman explained, will have the authority to set up a probation department when funds are made available by the County Board of Supervisors. Rehabilitative rather than punitive measures will be initiated in the probationary program for youthful offenders, Shipman said.

Miketinac, field representative of the Michigan Department of Social Services, gave a brief resume of services rendered to children referred to his department by the Probate Court. His department determines what rehabilitative measures are needed for children with emotional and behavioral problems, and supervises placement of children in foster homes. A detention facility and foster homes are urgently needed in this area, he said.

Lalich, friend of the court, explained the functions of his office. He said his duties range from investigatory where children are involved in divorce cases to assisting the judge in determining what custody order should be given, and the follow-up to determine whether or not the custody obligations are being carried out.

Mrs. Louis Gregory, a member of the court study committee, explained the development of the concept of the family court. This concept has arisen from dissatisfaction with current methods of handling family problems. The family court would give all members of the family a place to resolve their problems and conflicts in one court.

The Escanaba League will bring its study of Michigan courts to a conclusion next month.

The Appeal office moved from the house on Baraga Ave. in Marquette to the first floor of the Chancery building, 444 S. 4th, Marquette. Room was made available by shifting the diocesan education office to the third floor.

Named co-ordinator for a three-year term was Fr. Paul Schiska, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes parish, Engadine. Appointed by Bishop Charles A. Salatka, Father Schiska will oversee the office in the follow-up phase of the campaign, and assist the bishop in organizing the appeal for next year.

Hong Kong Flu Vaccine Is Late

EAST LANSING — Will the Hong Kong flu vaccine arrive in time?

"Manufacturers tell us it will be ready about the end of January or by February," says Dr. James S. Feurig, Michigan State University health center director.

"But this is too late."

Some predictions are that the Hong Kong flu will hit Michigan in December or early January.

Back in July the new flu was first reported in Hong Kong. By August the U.S. National Communicable Disease Center and the World Health Organization announced that the virus was a major variation of the original Asian flu virus.

"The Hong Kong virus mutated from the Asian flu strain," Dr. Feurig says.

Asian flu was associated with 62,000 U.S. deaths in 1957. The 1918 flu killed 445,000 people in the U.S.

In September of this year, the U.S. Surgeon General recommended that manufacturers produce the vaccine.

Japan beat the U.S. in developing the new seed virus. By Sept. 9, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare received the seed virus from Japan and sent the inactive serum to five U.S. manufacturers for vaccine production.

Without a flu vaccination, how does a person combat the flu?

"The best prevention," Dr. Feurig says, "is to eat properly, drink good fluids, sleep well, maintain good physical conduct.

"The aged, very young and chronically ill should get vaccinated."

Do not feel that getting the Hong Kong flu is inevitable, Dr. Feurig points out.

"It is not necessary that we have an epidemic here. We will just have to wait and see," Dr. Feurig says.

How bad is the Hong Kong flu?

"It has been a relatively rapid illness," Dr. Feurig says. "The illness lasts 24, 48, or 72 hours. For the most part, recovery has been without complications."

Dr. Washburn, Educator, Dies

EAST LANSING (AP) —Internationally known educator Dr. Carleton Woolsy Washburn, who aided in reconstruction of Italy's school system after World War II, died Wednesday at Sparrow Hospital two days after he suffered a stroke.

The 78-year-old Washburn, professor emeritus of education at Michigan State University, was a prolific writer and his latest book, "Windows to Understanding, Thoughts on Science, Man and God" was published last Nov. 8.

Dr. Washburn won national recognition in the 1920's for his development of the so-called Winnetka plan, the idea that education of children should be tailored to the child's own best rate. He vigorously opposed the educational theory that children should be lockstepped into a class in which all had to keep up at a certain learning pace, regardless of educational potential.

He developed the theory during his 25 years as superintendent of schools at Winnetka, Ill.

After the war, he was assigned to Northern Italy as director of the United States Information Service from 1946 to 1948. He later served on the faculty of Brooklyn, N. Y. College before joining the Michigan State faculty in 1961. He was an active member through 1962 and then became a visiting lecturer with the rank of professor emeritus.

Call For Romney?

There's more speculation in Lansing these days about that expected phone call from Washington for George Romney than there is about what Santa Claus may bring for Christmas.

There are almost as many thoughts about it as there are political soothsayers in the state capital, but if there is any consensus it is that Michigan's governor will be asked by President Nixon to serve the new national administration in some high federal role.

First speculation on the subject after the narrow Nixon victory in the presidential election generally suggested that Romney might be offered a cabinet office as Secretary of Commerce. The governor's eminence as the savior of American Motors with the compact automobile fitted him impressively for this office.

★ ★ ★

There was a second take, however, late in the campaign and particularly since the campaign, and it suggested that Romney might be named Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, the federal government's newest major department.

This resulted because Romney went into the ghettos and talked with the impoverished during his own campaign for the Presidency before the New Hampshire primary. He sought the views of the impoverished about government help and identified significantly with them. In this only John Lindsay, the mayor of New York, of all the men considered for the Presidency, was his equal.

★ ★ ★

And Romney is reported to have set up a conversation between Nixon and national Negro leaders which was helpful to Nixon's relations with this group and to their reaction to the Republican nominee. Romney is also reported to have sought a Nixon visitation to the ghettos during the campaign to further identify his cause with Negro and poverty problems, but this did not result.

Romney's efforts in Detroit, one of the nation's largest Negro cities, sets him up for consideration to head HUD. This is the way the political speculation ran as President-elect Nixon started deliberations on his cabinet.

★ ★ ★

There is also a strong counter-current at Lansing to the suggestion that Romney will go to Washington in the New Year. It suggests that Michigan's governor didn't carry the state for Nixon and that therefore Nixon owes him nothing in the way of a major federal office as reward for his contribution to the national Republican victory.

The unions carried Michigan for Hubert Humphrey in a late campaign. But it must certainly be known in Washington that Michigan would not have a Republican governor were it not for George Romney. And this goes for Republican U. S. Senator Robert Griffin, too; Romney probably contributed more to his victory over former Gov. G. Mennen Williams than did Griffin himself. And we had a Republican House and Senate in the State Legislature until Nov. 5 and still have a Republican Senate. (It wasn't involved in the Nov. 5 election.)

The present strength of the Republican party in Michigan is attributable to George Romney in a huge way. It is inconceivable without him.

★ ★ ★

His achievements in the statehouse have been impressive. He didn't work for the election of Republican Presidential Nominee Barry Goldwater in 1964 because Goldwater wouldn't commit himself clearly on the issue of racism, but he contributed a Republican governorship to the party in Michigan as a result of his stand and created a public image that could be helpful to President Nixon as he faces the very serious problem of big city ghettos.

There's also the suggestion that the new President may create some national commissions to attack major domestic problems and that Romney might head one of these.

Lansing can't wait for the hot line to ring.

Police

It is a flight of fancy to expect that U. S. policemen, like their British counterparts, will ever reach a mutual disarmament treaty with the underworld. Americans remain too wedded to their weapons.

But they might profitably study how the London police handled the recent orgy of demonstrations by 30,000 anti-Vietnam war and anti-American groups, whose behavior was not appreciably more refined than that of our own peace-lovers in Chicago.

The Bobbies did not even reach for their truncheons (the only weapons they carry) but literally used body English to keep the mobs under control. A thin blue line of 50 of them prevented one mob from rushing the American embassy.

In so doing, they took a lot of lumps and missed the satisfaction of cracking a lot of hairy heads. But they also won a clear-cut moral victory over the anarchists, while brilliantly reinforcing their famous image as first-class, professional lawmen.

GIVING

No truer words were said than in the letter written in by John LaPorte, in Friday's paper, Nov. 22. I feel the very same way that he does and I'm sure the majority of the people do.

I also agree with him on how nice it would be if the same "spirit of giving" could be carried over to the blood bank at Christmas time.

I'm as busy as everyone else at this time of year, but I always find time to visit the blood bank any time it comes to town.

School Lunches Have Tripled

LANSING (AP) — The number of children who will be fed in school this year totals three times that of last year, says Dr. Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction.

Increases in federally funded school food programs will mean breakfast, lunch or both for some 75,000 Michigan youngsters, Polley said. That compares with 25,000 children who were served free or reduced - cost meals last year, he said.

Polley said the major increase comes through legislation allotting $1.09 million to Michigan under a new $43 million special national program to feed disadvantaged children in schools.

An additional $188,462—some $80,000 more than last year—for special aids to disadvantaged children under the regular school lunch program, means a total of more than $1.28 million will be available in Michigan for youngsters who don't get enough or the right kind of food at home, Polley said.

"The increase in the lunch program will just about cover the increase in the number of students participating and will not mean a lowering of lunch prices," he added.

GREETINGS

I had an idea I wanted to ask about before writing Christmas cards.

Since the price of postage went up I thought it would be nice if the Press would take a few pages in December and charge $1 to persons who wanted to send their Christmas greetings to people in this area under an appropriate heading.

I don't know if you know what I mean, but I have in mind a Christmas greeting in large lettering and saying that the persons whose names are signed send their greetings to all their friends and relatives in the Press' circulation district.

I think a lot of people would rather pay the Press $1 for Mr. and Mrs. Family's greetings than to write out a lot of cards.

I think it would go big.

Mrs. George Frappier
904 S. 15th St.

(Editor's note: The Press, of course, is always open to advertising of greetings and its Advertising Department, informed of Mrs. Frappier's suggestion, said it has always done this in a way and would be glad to try an enlargement of it for general usage.)

FISH AND GAME

Michigan has now given its Department of Conservation another name, the "Department of Natural Resources."

I believe this would be a good time to make another change in our Conservation Department. This would be to place the fish and game in a department of their own. The department would be known as the Michigan Department of Fish and Game. It would operate independently from the massive Department of Resources. It would have a director at its head. He and he alone would be held responsible for the proper operation of the department. It would have no connection with the issuing of licenses. All license monies would go into the state's general fund. The Fish and Game Department would operate on an appropriation basis. Its expenditures would have to be justified before the State Legislature. The department would include the Law Enforcement Division.

Under the department's present way of operating there is no control in the spending of the license monies. These monies represent several million dollars per year. The department makes one report each year to the governor's office. This report is made up in book form. I have read this report and it is a lot of reading and I doubt if many governors ever read it all.

As long as part of the department's operating funds consist of license monies they will never put a closed season on game unless they are forced to it by the people. However, if the department was operating on an appropriative basis seasons could be closed when necessary and the department would not lose any of its funds.

There are times when it is necessary to close a season on some species of game to give them the needed protection. Right at this time there should be some closed seasons on some of our game and fur animals.

★ ★ ★

The main reason to have an independent department of fish and game is to break it away from the oversized Department of Natural Resources. Under the present conditions the department has grown so large it has lost all contact with the people and for the same reason the people have lost all contact with the department.

We do not need a Conservation Commission for the Department of Fish and Game. The commission to date has been nothing but a rubber stamp for the various division heads in the department. All we need is a director at the head of the department. Let him be responsible to the people for the actions of the department.

The director's whole energies could be directed towards the betterment of the state's fish and game. There are a number of states throughout the country that have this independent fish and game department. I believe if the people of this state care to have the state's fish and game handled to the best of their potential it can only be done in the manner I have stated.

Fund Drive For Miners' Families

MONROE (AP) —City Clerk Doras A. Soleau has started a campaign in Monroe to raise funds for the families of 78 miners trapped underground by a mine explosion in Mannington, W. Va.

Soleau has opened an account at a Monroe bank and is inviting contributions.

"It seems very unlikely," Soleau said, "that the unfortunate 78 miners will be rescued alive and their families face a sad and desolate holiday season. Perhaps we who are so fortunate can relieve some of the suffering these survivors are called upon to endure."

Here is a hand played some years ago by Charles Solomon of Philadelphia. During the course of a long and distinguished bridge career, Charley has won just about every tournament and in addition has been president of both the American Contract Bridge League and the World Bridge Federation.

North's jump to three spades was a deliberate overbid. It effectively kept East out of the bidding and Charley decided that his hand was worth a game try.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued with the 10. Most players would have gone up with dummy's king whereupon East would have trumped. Then East would have decided that his partner's 10 spot lead was a suit preference signal calling for the lowest suit and returned a club. There would be no way to avoid losing a club and another heart.

Charley found a simple way to make sure of his contract. He just let the 10 of hearts hold. He would have looked sort of silly had East produced the queen or jack and continued by giving West a heart ruff, but he would look silly on his way to the bank since all he would have given away would have been an overtrick.

After Charley ducked the best East could do was to give his partner a ruff with a third heart lead. East returned a club but the defense was through taking tricks.

Charley rose with his ace, drew trumps, led out a fourth heart and ruffed it in dummy. He returned to his hand with the ace of diamonds, discarded dummy's queen of clubs on the fifth and last heart and made the rest of the tricks with a cross ruff.

Spanking His Wife Improved Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you took a strong stand against wife-spanking. Why? A columnist with your knowledge of psychology should know that women respect and admire men who assert their maleness. It took two divorces before I learned how to handle females.

I tried to reason with my first two wives. I spent hours arguing before I realized they were brainless donkeys. My brilliant logic was wasted on them.

My third marriage is much better. The very first time we had an argument I turned my wife over my knee and gave her a good, sound spanking. "When you behave like a child," I told her, "you will be treated like a child." Since that time I haven't had too much trouble. I've had to give her an occasional spanking, but nothing like the first one.

If more men tried it there would be fewer divorces in this country. Why don't you tell them so? — IN CHARGE

Dear In: If more men tried it there would be fewer men in this country. This might come as a surprise to you, Bub, but a great many women would not tolerate such degrading treatment.

And now will you answer a question for me? How did a man with such brilliant logic wind up married to two brainless donkeys?

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't print my initials or my town. If the guys knew I was writing to you they'd die laughing.

I am 17 years old and going steady with a great little chick. The only problem is she's got this thing about the phone. She wants me to call her every night at nine when we aren't together. I don't mind calling but I can't get her off the horn. She has a phone of her own and can talk all night, but my ma gets mad when I tie up our phone too long.

What can a guy do about a girl who wants to yak forever? — CAULIFLOWER EARS

Dear Ears: The next time your doll tries for permanent possession of the Bell trophy, tell her your ma is on the warpath and you've come up with a solution to insure domestic tranquility. Place an alarm clock by the phone. Set it for 15 minutes. That's long enough to get everything said. When the alarm goes off, say good-bye — and go.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Can you take it as well as dish it out? We shall see.

A few weeks back you said it was "ungracious" for a guest to send a hostess a bill for $5.00 to replace a brand new pair of panty hose which were torn by the hostess's dog.

As an attorney I can tell you that a person is legally responsible for damage or injury inflicted by his pet — whether it's $5 or $5,000. Who was your expert on this one? — PHILADELPHIA LAWYER

Dear Phil: I didn't realize this was a legal problem, but I see your point. Who was my expert? You were. And I thank you.

Oscar (Ockie) and Anita (Pigeon) Davis of Beaumont, Tex., like bridge tournaments. Pigeon has done most of the playing for the family and has established herself as one of the top players of the country. Ockie started putting in an occasional appearance at the table a few years ago and has managed to get half way to Life Master status.

We have had a lot of fun with him and keep offering to bet that Jim O. Jacoby, age six, will beat him to Life Master. We have withdrawn offers of this nature since watching Ockie play today's hand in Lake Charles, La.

We aren't sure that his bidding will get full approval of all experts but six no-trump is a reasonable contract and his partner held an absolute minimum opening bid.

West opened the ace of spades and continued the suit on the principle of not giving the declarer any help. Ockie counted 10 top tricks and at first glance it appeared that he would have to bring home the heart suit. He had to locate the queen and decided to play a few diamonds just to see what would happen. The first diamond lead told him. The suit was not going to break.

Since East held all the diamonds Ockie decided to play West for the queen of hearts. He led his king of hearts, continued with the 10 and finessed. The finesse worked but East showed out so Ockie was up to 11 tricks only but he also perceived an automatic squeeze position. He cashed the remaining top diamonds, the last two spades, discarding a diamond, whereupon Ockie chucked his last diamond. West had to hold the queen of hearts and Ockie spread his hand with the announcement, "The clubs are all good."

Personal Wish For Merry Yule

Lady Baltimore filling for a two-layer white cake is traditionally made of raisins, dried figs, and walnuts, chopped and mixed with a third of a recipe of cooked, seven minute frosting; the kind made with white granulated sugar.

For Christmas serving or gifting, why not create a lady filling in your own name? To the same type of snow-white frosting, add such seasonally colorful fruits as sugar-glazed red cherries and green citron, chopped along with light-colored raisins and nuts. Mix and spread your filling between the cake layers.

When the entire cake is iced with most of the remaining all-white frosting, go artistic on top, mixing food colors into a bit of the frosting for designs.

Or with the help of those handy commercial decorating tubes of colored icings, or jelly, draw on your personal red and green wishes for a "Merry Christmas."

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 1

HERE it is Christmas again—well, almost Christmas—and the question is: "Have you been good?"

Have you been nice to your Mama and helped set the table? Said "Yes, sir!" to your Daddy when he asked you to shovel the snow from the walk?

Have you hung your coat in the closet and come to meals on time? Studied your lessons and practiced your piano without being told? Put your toys where they belong and used a handkerchief when you should have?

If you haven't been doing any of these things you better get busy because the first thing Santa wants to know when he's making out his list is "Has he been good?"

If you have been good, Santa's mighty pleased and you can bet your stocking will be overflowing on Christmas morning.

But the strange thing is—if you haven't been good, if, in fact, you've been perfectly awful, Santa will fill your stocking just the same.

But he'll be sad about it and he really won't like it at all.

There once was a boy named Henry Wetherspoon who was a terror of a kid. He called himself Ding Dong and he did not care at all about being nice to his Mama or polite to his teachers even if Christmas was coming.

Ding Dong never took baths. He never changed his socks or underwear. He wouldn't comb his hair or brush his teeth and he sneaked out of bed in the middle of the night to watch the late late late show on TV.

He teased his sisters and played jokes on his brothers and hid his Father's shaving cream to make him late for the 8:15. He raided the refrigerator all day long and turned up his nose at the dinners his Mother worked so hard to prepare. He passed notes in school and talked out loud and went to sleep when arithmetic class came around.

Oh, he was a problem and neither his folks nor his teachers knew what in the world to do with Ding Dong Henry Wetherspoon.

But Santa Claus knew.

Ding Dong Henry Wetherspoon was a terror of a kid.

He was going over his list of boys and girls and making up his mind what to bring them for Christmas. When he got to Ding Dong's name he said, "What about this one? What about Henry Wetherspoon?"

Santa has a helper—an elf named Edgar—who runs errands for him all over the world. In the course of his travels Edgar learned a lot about what children were up to when they thought no one was looking. So when Santa asked about Henry Wetherspoon, Edgar threw up his hands and wailed:

"That boy is impossible!"

Santa took off his spectacles and leaned back from his desk. "Tch, tch," he said reprovingly. "There's some good in every boy."

"Not this one!" snorted Edgar. He told Santa all he knew about Henry Wetherspoon. How bad he was and how unhappy he made all the folks who loved him and worried about him all the time.

Santa rubbed his eyes and rocked a while in his rocking chair. Then he said:

"Go and talk to him. Perhaps he'd like to live in Hippieville."

Two Lake Boats Collide In Storm

DETROIT (AP)—Two Great Lakes freighters collided in a gale-force storm which raked the lower Detroit River suddenly late Thursday.

Damage from the storm was reported as far south as Monroe, but no injuries, aboard ships or elsewhere, were reported.

While both freighters suffered extensive damage, they were able to limp to Detroit - area docks under their own power.

The northbound Diamond Alkali, loaded with coal, and the empty downbound Sylvania collided in the 600-foot wide channel between Wyandotte and Fighting Island at 6 p.m.

The storm felled trees and knocked down utility poles on nearby Grosse Ile and ripped a section of roof 70 by 25 feet off a building under construction just north of Monroe. Some trees were felled in the Monroe area and some sheds bowled over.

The Diamond Alkali is a 600-foot, 12,500 - ton, self-unloading motorship owned by the American Steamship Co. of Buffalo, N.Y. It finally tied up at its destination, the Semet - Solvay division of Allied Chemical Co. in southwest Detroit.

The Sylvania is a 572 - foot, 1,000 - ton self-unloader owned by the Tomlinson Fleet Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio. It turned about and docked at the Great Lakes Steel Corp. in suburban Ecorse.

Also a coal carrier, the Sylvania had just unloaded at a Detroit Edison power plant and was headed for Toledo, Ohio.

A hole was torn in the Sylvania above the water line and the Diamond Alkali was crunched in about the bow. Damage estimates were withheld, pending a Coast Guard investigation of the collision.

man said the major priority in his government's plan would be an early cease-fire.

Nguyen Van An, the deputy chief of Saigon's observer mission in Paris, said South Vietnam also will demand "strong and effective international guarantees" in any final settlement.

The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front have said a cease-fire is unlikely to be discussed until later in the negotiating process. They have said such discussion must be preceded by the withdrawal of American and other foreign troops from South Vietnam.

Harriman Returns

Van An spoke in an interview as Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief of the U.S. delegation, prepared to head home Sunday for a brief Washington visit.

Vietnam consultations were not listed as the main reason for his return, but Harriman was expected to confer with Pentagon officials on the fourthcoming conference in which Saigon will participate.

The expanded parley now is expected to get going in the second week in December. The Saigon delegation, whose absence held up the meeting for a month, is due in Paris next week.

Hanoi's insistence that it will only talk to the United States and the refusal of South Vietnam and the NLF to recognize each others will make four-way conversation difficult when the expanded talks begin.

Question First Step

Van An indicated the Saigon delegation will present its peace plan to the conference after the parley gets past initial procedural debate and concentrates on issues of substance.

U.S. diplomats have tended to doubt the realism of pressing for a cease-fire as the first negotiating item to end the guerrilla-type war.

Instead, they have been considering ways to bargain for de-escalation as a first step toward eventually ending all hostilities.

On post-war peace guarantees, the United States has favored a system going further than that provided by the 1954 Geneva agreements. These created a three-nation International Control Commission to supervise the Indo-China agreements, but the allies contend it has been largely ineffective.

'Bad Faith'

Van An said South Vietnamese leaders constantly have drawn attention to what they consider "bad faith" by the Communists concerning the 1954 accords and also the 1962 agreement for neutralizing neighboring Laos.

"President Nguyen Van Thieu and other leaders of our government therefore have made it clear many times we require strong and effective assurances by the signatory states of a Vietnam peace settlement that the settlement will be respected," he said.

Blue Cross To Raise Rates

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross announced today it proposes to raise rates an average of 4.6 per cent next April 1 for 577,000 of the 4.7 million who buy hospital insurance from it.

Blue Shield, a companion unsurer of doctor bills, said it planned no increase in rates in the quarter beginning in April.

Blue Cross said it would raise rates 4.8 per cent for 540,000 group and group conversion subscribers and 2.1 per cent for 37,000 nongroup members.

Group rates vary according to usage and coverage carried, and Blue Cross said it had 18,000 separate groups, rates for which are reviewable quarterly.

Gas Geysers Disrupt Holiday

MARSHALL (AP) — A red tag on the front of your house means danger if you live in Marshall, Mich., where about 15 families had to flee a series of highly volatile, unexplained natural gas geysers early Thanksgiving Day.

Thunderous rumblings and 20-foot geysers forced the evacuation of a one half mile square area Thursday.

Water pressure in wells rose sharply. Swampland bubbled. A 20-foot section of paved street was torn as a geyser of gaseous water erupted from the middle of the rubble.

"It looks like Yellowstone Park down there," said geologist James Woodruff of the State Conservation Department, motioning toward the Kalamazoo River bank, where most of the gas appeared to be escaping.

"There aren't any more big geysers, but a lot of bubbling," he said, adding the eruptions could begin anew.

The level of the Kalamazoo River dropped roughly seven feet in the area about the same time that an explosion ripped through the house of Raymond Kulzick and his family, who were away on a visit. Damage to the house was estimated to be $25,000.

Calhoun County Sheriff Joseph Liebheer theorized the explosion was caused by a spark from a heater in the basement as fumes seeped up through the basement floor.

Authorities were unable to explain the water level drop in the river.

Geologists in the area said the gas seepages were almost surely natural, and a check by gas company workers disclosed no leaks.

It was the second time in a month that mysterious underground gas pressure built up in Lower Michigan. Earlier, a seven-mile square area at Lee Township, about 12 miles away in south central Michigan, was punctuated by the gas-and-water geysers.

Geologists then determined the geysers had something to do with an oil well shaft being drilled. The well casing was filled with a large quantity of concrete and the situation appeared to clear up.

One mining expert said he doubted the Marshall and Lee incidents were connected. He said the gases sealed off at Lee would have had to travel 12 miles at a level 4,000 feet beneath the surface because of rock strata in the area.

Sir Dingle Foot On Wrong Track

LONDON (AP) — Sir Dingle Foot, a distinguished British lawyer and politician, admitted he put his foot in his mouth today by inadvertently giving Her Majesty's judges a lecture on their sex lives.

Foot, former legal adviser to Prime Minister Harold Wilson, quoted the fifth chapter of St. Paul's epistles to the Corinthians before a church congregation of judges and their wives.

"I actually hear reports of sexual immorality among you," he read. The jurists squirmed.

"Your self-satisfaction ill becomes you," Foot plowed on. "You are judges within the fellowship. Root out the evil-doer within your community."

Sir Dingle said later he intended to read from the first chapter of St. Paul's epistles, but by the time he realized he was on the wrong track "it was too late."

The scripture reading occurred at a chapel in Gray's Inn, where many lawyers and judges live and work.

York To Retire:

New Mediator Named For U.P.

MARQUETTE — Walter H. Quillico, mediator assigned to the Detroit office for the past 13½ years, has been transferred to the Upper Peninsula, it was announced today by Robert G. Howlett, Detroit, chairman of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board.

Quillico's transfer as resident mediator for the Upper Peninsula will be effective Dec. 2. He will replace Carl York of Rapid River, who plans to retire in January.

The new U. P. mediator has been in the labor relations field for 30 years. He has been involved in major labor disputes both in private and public areas of metropolitan Detroit.

Quillico, 52, is married and is the father of four children, three sons and a daughter. His wife, the former Marian Richards, is a native of Iron Mountain and graduated from high school there.

The Quillicos have moved to Iron Mountain, which will be his base of operations.

York, a veteran in the mediation service, has been in the Upper Peninsula for 15 years. He has had a total of 25 years in state service.

His retirement will become effective in January after spending the month of December assisting Quillico in his new assignment.

York said he plans to spend winters in the southern United States, returning to the Rapid River area for summers of fishing, hunting and golf.

Among the early leaders in volume, Cities Service rose about 2, Universal Oil Products and American Smelting more than a point each.

Gains of about a point were made by U.S. Steel, and Boeing.

Tito Speaks At Anniversary Of Government

JAJCE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Josip Broz Tito today voiced Yugoslavia's alarm over the "serious deterioration of the international situation" caused by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Tito spoke to an assembly of prominent Yugoslav leaders gathered to celebrate the creation of the first government of Yugoslavia 25 years ago.

Reviewing the history of the second session of "the Anti-Fascist Council of the People's Liberation of Yugoslavia," Tito stressed that the partisan revolution in Yugoslavia during World War II did not copy "outside models. He thus made it clear Yugoslavia does not consider her revolution a replica of the Soviet one.

"Our peoples have made enormous sacrifices and spilled streams of blood to become masters of their fate, to be able to decide independently on the forms of their socio-economic development," said Tito.

"Yugoslavia views with alarm the serious deterioration in the international situation that has taken place, particularly of late." This was a reference to the invasion of Czechoslovakia, which Yugoslavia sharply denounced.

"It's especially disturbing that even today in international relations, the principles of sovereignty and integrity of countries are not respected," said Tito. "If these principles which include the fundamental right of each people to be master in its own country are not respected, new crises and trouble will arise, and there will be no stabilization of international conditions."

Lazaros' Gun Permit Revoked

PONTIAC (AP)—At the request of State Police Director Col. Fredrick E. Davids, the Oakland County Gun Board Tuesday revoked the gun permit of Peter Lazaros, a reputed underworld informer.

The request overruled State Police intelligence agents who had requested Lazaros be permitted to carry a gun for his own protection.

Lazaros has been under police guard at his home since he gave authorities details of alleged illegal payoffs to Detroit area public officials and Mafia figures.

"Col. Davids believes that the police protection now being given Mr. Lazaros is adequate to insure his safety without Mr. Lazaros having to carry a gun himself," said Davids' top aide, Lt. Col. Melvin Kaufman.

Lazaros has been in protective custody of the State Police in his Troy home since he was released from Jackson State Prison on a Federal Court order for a new trial of a 1962 furniture-loan fraud conviction.

Draft Dodger Fights To Stay

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Thomas Glenn Jolley, 24, says his opposition to the Vietnam war and the draft has cost him two jobs this year—and it could cause him to become a man without a country.

Jolley, a slender, dark-haired man with a moustache, said he has found another job since being fired for the second time last month, but added, "We don't really have plans for the future now, until this is over."

Jolley referred to a U.S. Immigration Service ruling that he must leave the Uniter States within 90 hays or be deported. Federal officials say Jolley crossed the border into Canada last year to avoid the draft and formally renounced his U.S. citizenship May 16, 1967.

The government contends Jolley re-entered this country illegally and should be deported. Presumably the government would have to decide where.

Jolley said, in an interview at his small Atlanta apartment, "I have no interest in returning to Canada" but that he would enjoy visiting that country again, voluntarily.

Government records show Jolley wrote a letter in May of 1967 saying, "Yesterday, May 16, I renounced my United States citizenship, thus terminating all obligations to the United States."

When Jolley was questioned about whether he rerets abandonin his citizenship, the youth exchaned glances with his 21-year-old wife, who accompanied him to Canada and replied:

"I guess we did what we thought we had to do at the time we did it . . . that doesn't mean we would do it again.

Nun Is Reunited With Brother After 50 Years

ST. CLAIR SHORES (AP) — A Belgian nun saw her brother for the first time in 50 years Thursday—and her first turkey ever.

"What a big bird," exlaimed Sister Marie Etienne, 79, when she spied the turkey and all its Thanksgiving trimmings on the dinner table at the home of a nephew in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Sister Marie, a Sister of Charity in the small Belgian village of Cuerne, last saw her brother Joseph Vandermaliere of St. Clair Shores in 1918. Vandermaliere, 72, is a retired Chrysler Corp. electrician.

The real reason for her thanksgiving—"for this the most happy day of my live"—was the reunion with her brother, she said.

A sister who lives in the Detroit suburb of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mrs. Jeanne Couvreur, 71, and about 15 other relatives gathered for the feast.

Altogether, Sister Marie has 71 relatives—most of them in the Detroit area, which has one of the largest concentrations of Belgians in the United States.

The daughter of a wooden shoe dealer, Sister Marie was an active nun from 1910 until she retired a few years ago.

When the brother and sister met for the first time in a half century, he walked to the tiny, black - clad figure and bent to kiss her on the cheek.

"I want to kiss you, too," said the aged nun hugging her brother in a tearful embrace.

COMBINED LIVING-DINING ROOM, portion of which is shown here, has wall of sliding glass doors leading to rear terrace. Other glass doors lead from kitchen to same terrace.

RECESSED ATRIUM entranceway and effective blending of brick and vertical siding give this ranch a contemporary appearance not too usual in a small house. Roof lines fit into styling but have added advantage of making the house appear larger than it is.

Bedroom Plan Is Unusual

By ANDY LANG

Answering readers' requests for a small house with "something different" in layout, architect Herman H. York offers one this week. It not only incorporates several recently adopted home planning ideas, but is styled in a contemporary fashion in keeping with the advanced thinking of the room circulation.

A glance at the floor plan immediately discloses a divergence from custom: the three bedrooms are not grouped together. Instead, the master or owners' bedroom is completely separated from the two others. At the left side of the house, with its private bath, it has a connecting terrace shielded from the street with a high brick wall, the latter a handsome addition to the exterior front elevation. This arrangement is designed to give the husband and wife a room away from the radio or stereo that is invariably blasting away in either or both of the other bedrooms. A side but important note is that this principal bedroom has four closets totaling 15 linear feet of space.

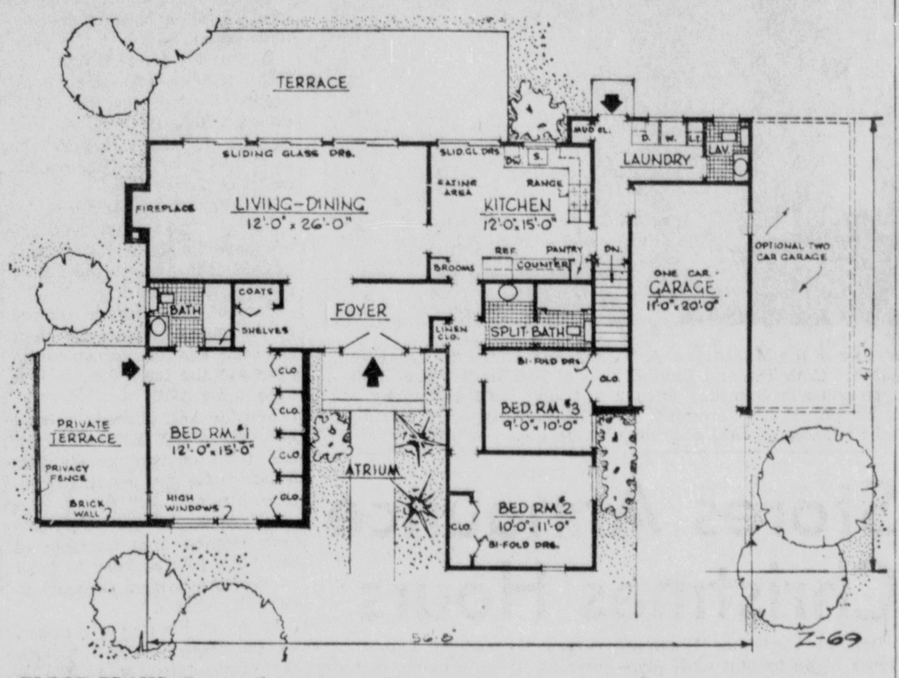

The indoor-outdoor theme extends beyond the owners' bedroom area. There is a rear terrace which can be reached through sliding glass doors in the combination living room-dining room and another set of such doors in the kitchen. The living room portion has a fireplace as its focal point of interest. The two rooms together, completely open to each other, total 26'. The open feeling is accentuated by a large foyer which commands a full view through the combined rooms to the rear terrace.

Generous counter and wall cabinet space are included in the kitchen layout, with a breakfast area overlooking the rear terrace, a broom closet, a pantry and an adjoining laundry room, mud closet and lavatory. Also in this section are doors to the outside and the garage, and a stairway to the basement.

The two other bedrooms are at this left side of the house, an arrangement that should be equally pleasing to the parents and the children. Next to the bedrooms are a split bathroom and a linen closet. Completely separating the main bedroom from the others is a wide atrium entranceway as well as a brick wall on the side of the main bedroom.

A contemporary exterior design, with simplicity as its theme, makes for a house with clean detail, using horizontal lines to make a small house appear larger and longer. Extended ridge beams are not structurally needed but are used to carry out the over-all design associated with contemporary style. The atrium entry should be generously landscaped with low shrubs, stones and rectangular flagstones in a fashion that will create an impression of space.

For a house with only 1346 square feet of habitable space, excluding the garage and service area, this ranch has fulfilled the aim of producing a small home that is different.

FLOOR PLANS: Outstanding feature of layout, which has desired center hall arrangement and free traffic plan, is complete separation of the owners' bedroom from the children's bedrooms, with each area having its own bathroom.

Z-69 STATISTICS

Design Z-69 has a combined living room - dining room stretching 26', a kitchen, three bedrooms, two bathrooms and a large foyer, totaling 1346 square feet. The plans also call for two terraces, a laundry room, a lavatory, a basement and a one-car garage. The garage may be extended to two-car width if desired without changing the contemporary character of the exterior. Overall dimensions of 56' 8" by 41' do not include the terraces, but do include the garage, laundry room and lavatory.

Painting A Room? Some Suggestions

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Getting ready to paint a room? Here are some DOs and DON'Ts that may help you with the project:

DO see that the walls and ceiling are clean, wiping off all dust and washing off the grease and dirt.

DO fix all openings in plaster and gypsum board, being careful to prime the patches before painting.

DO sand any spots or areas that are glossy to enable the new paint to grip properly. If all the walls are glossy, as might be the case in a kitchen or bathroom, dull the old finish with a special compound sold in hardware and paint stores especially for this purpose.

DO the ceiling first, the walls next, the woodwork and trim last.

DO paint across the narrow width of the ceiling. The walls may be started at any upper corner.

DO paint in a dry area towards a wet one, overlapping very slightly.

DO paint a window by starting with the vertical parts of the sash, then the horizontal ones, then the frame, the sash tracks, the casing and the sill.

DO use the proper thinner: turpentine or mineral spirits for regular oil paint; water for latex; an odorless thinner for odorless paint.

The way to avoid trouble is:

DON'T begin until you carefully read the instructions on the label of the paint can.

DON'T forget that, when standing on a plank set between the rungs of two ladders — or anything similar — the paint can should always be behind you.

DON'T overlook the possibility that the ceiling, or most of it, can be painted while standing on the floor by using a roller attached to a long handle.

DON'T, when using a brush, slap it on. Apply it.

Answers For Home Owners

QUESTION: I'd like to put a pickled finish on some pine wood furniture I bought recently. There's nothing on it now, although it is well-sanded. Can you help me?

ANSWER: Pickled pine means different shades to different persons. We have seen pickled pine furniture ranging from a greenish gray to a very light gray. Presumably the term came from an old-time method of weathering wood in vinegar and pickling vats.

One of the present methods of pickling pine is to bleach it with a commercial mixture, then apply a coat of paste white tinted with raw umber and black. Wipe the surface with a clean cloth, leaving a very thin coating. When it is thoroughly dry, apply a self-polishing wax, following the directions on the container of the particular brand you buy. However, some manufacturers are now putting out special pickled pine finishes that may save you some work.

Wood Makes Neat Knot-Hole Patch

AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: I bought some second - hand plywood some time ago and now have decided to use it for a project. There are quite a few holes in it where knots used to be. What's the best way to patch these holes?

ANSWER: Small holes can be patched with wood putty or plastic wood. Large holes can also be done this way, but it's a more difficult job, since it usually is necessary to apply several coatings so that the hole is filled gradually over a period of days rather than all at once. Filling the holes with wood produces a neat, professional - appearing result.

Make a paper pattern of a hole, than cut a piece of wood to fit it, using wood a little thicker than the plywood. Glue the wood into the hole and sand smooth. However, you can't use this method unless you have a jigsaw to cut the necessary small pieces of wood for each hole.

Nuclear Accelerator Land Hard To Obtain

WESTON, Ill. (AP) — Two years ago high energy physics and big government money coalesced in an obscure farm town 35 expressway miles west of Chicago.

For Chicago and the region around it, the name "Weston" became a symbol of the future.

It was here that the Atomic Energy Commission would build the world's largest nuclear accelerator. With it would come new space-age industry, an increase in jobs and demand for services, added prestige for the area's universities, and—not least of all—a housing development boom.

But, as the frost of November 1968 settles onto the fields around Weston, the state government finds itself locked in a struggle for the 6,800-acre site of what is to be the National Accelerator Laboratory.

Rearguard Action

Farmers and other landowners have fought a bitter rearguard action against the state's real estate buyers.

Part of the package offered by the state to attract the atom smasher was an agreement to purchase the land then turn it over to the AEC.

Now the AEC is ready to build but only about 2,300 acres, or one third of the parcels that comprise the site, are in government hands.

"We're impatient," says Kennedy Brooks, area manager of the AEC. "We're here to build an accelerator and we want to get going with it."

To get at the property faster, the state is bypassing its private real estate agents to go into local courts with condemnation suits.

Price Up

The procedure being used gives the government immediate title to the parcel.

But the "quick take," as it is known in real estate argot, forces the government to put up 25 per cent beyond the appraised value of the land—at no interest—until the court determines the sale price.

And that could take years, both sides agree.

Officials of the National Accelerator Laboratory have set up offices in what used to be the village of Weston, which was legally dissolved in June after the last tracts inside the corporate limits were purchased by the state.

Outside the limits though, in the farm country where the vast accelerator will be constructed, nothing is happening.

Chris Feldott, 56, a craggy Illinois farmer whose property is already in the courts, says bluntly:

"They just aren't coming up with enough money.

"My brother, Edwin, and I have been farming this land all our lives. My grandfather farmed this land, and it's been in our family 115 or 120 years."

"The way we figure it, these people are only offering us 50 to 75 per cent of what its worth," he says.

George Serle represents a different kind of property owner. An executive with a large Chicago printing company, he and his wife raise Arabian horses on their property near Weston.

"Sure, I could take their offer and get some sort of a farm dirt cheap 40 or 50 miles west of here," he said. "But what good does that do me? I'm 50 years old and that expressway seems to get longer and longer every night."

"Besides," he goes on, "where else am I going to find a limestone base that will take the kind of chemical fertilizer I need to keep up my pasture?"

A CAMBODIAN WOMAN carries a plastic doll and a shopping bag full of post exchange goods for which she traded rice at a smuggling center in South Vietnam, just across the Cambodian border. U. S. officials claim at least 100,000 tons or rice reached the Viet Cong from Cambodia within the past year while Cambodian sources contend the loss due to smuggling is closer to 40,000 tons. (AP Wirephoto)

Smugglers Use Cambodian Trail

BAVET, Cambodia (AP) — From the distance they look like a giant centipede, slowly crawling through the tidy, green paddies along Route 1 toward the border.

Two hundred yards from the Cambodian and Vietnamese border posts, the centipede turns left, moves along the outposts' fences and bunkers and crosses on a paddy dike into South Vietnam. The border is marked with two cement blocks right and left of the dike. Then it disappears in a hamlet of a score of long, thatch-roofed huts.

These are smugglers pushing frail bicycles, laden with sacks of Cambodian rice, into Vietnam.

Occasionally the column stops in the shade of a cluster of palm trees and the smugglers wipe their sweatstained peasant faces. Then they move on. Few words are spoken and nobody seems to be in charge as they follow each other's footsteps along the trail into the smuggling center on the South Vietnamese side of the border.

Camouflage

Some of the smugglers cover themselves with small mats of rice straw or reeds as they approach the border. These cover the man, his rice load and bicycle like a tent—good protection against the scorching sun and also, if needed, against the occasional American helicopter that scouts the border.

Returning to Cambodia, the smugglers travel alone or in small groups. Their mats are folded and the loads are much lighter. Some clutch only a bundle of Cambodian money.

Others carry American post-exchange goods—uniforms, combat rations, canned candy or soap powder. One woman had a plastic doll on the rack of her bike—payment and barter for the smuggling services rendered.

Price Is Double

Most of the rice smuggled across the border will go to the troops of the Viet Cong. Some will end up in the Saigon market, where Vietnamese housewives prefer Cambodian to American rice.

U.S. officials in Saigon claim that at least 100,000 tons of rice reached the Viet Cong from Cambodia within the last year. Through October the kingdom exported 246,196 tons of milled rice. Cambodian sources contend the loss to smuggling was closer to 40,000 tons than to 100,000.

The rice farmers and the men and women pushing the bikes down Route 1 do not know who will finally get the rice. They only know that the Vietnamese and their undercover agents in Cambodia pay nearly double the price that Cambodia pays within its nationalized rice trade.

There are open markets at least half a dozen places along the southeastern border of Cambodia.

Near Toanlop village in Takeo Province, opposite the South Vietnamese province of Chau Doc in the Seven Mountains area, a cattle drive is made across the border twice a month to Vietnamese markets. Cigarettes, chinaware from Communist China, medicines produced or imported into Cambodia and marijuana also pour across the border to Vietnamese markets.

Villages near the Cambodian side often resemble Saigon's black markets. Almost anything is available that can be found at U.S. military stores, sometimes even more. In Bavet, noise earprotectors for U.S. Air Force mechanics sell for $1, boxing gloves for $3. Combat C rations which cost the U.S taxpayer $1 a meal are available for 50 cents.

Iowa, Purdue Field Veteran Cage Teams

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa and Purdue are expected to lead a rough Big Ten basketball charge this season which finds the conference with three new coaches and only a handful of sophomores breaking into veteran lineups.

The new coaches are Bill Fitch at Minnesota, John Orr at Michigan and John Powless at Wisconsin. None has inherited anything that resembles a contender but a rugged race is expected from the other members.

Iowa and Purdue both will field veteran teams and appear to be the class of the conference, a shade ahead of Ohio State which was a playoff to determine the NCAA representative after they had tied for the championship.

Ohio State, although loaded with talent, must make a go of it without Bill Hosket who led the Buckeyes in scoring and rebounding for three years.

Iowa lost super star Sam Williams but Coach Ralph Miller doesn't appear to be worried. He'll replace Williams with John Johnson, a 6-9 junior college transfer, who some feel will make Hawkeye fans forget Williams when the Big Ten race begins in January.

Purdue has all of its starters back including junior Rick Mount who set a sophomore scoring standard with a 29.7 average.

Coach George King needs only a respectable showing from his big men, 7-0 Chuck Bavis or 6-10 Jerry Johnson, to possibly take down the championship.

Illinois and Northwestern appear to have a shot at the title. Illinois has 6-8 Dave Scholz back and is counting heavily on 6-8 sophomore Greg Jackson. Illinois also has a blue chip sophomore in 6-4 Fred Miller of Pekin who is expected to see a lot of action but can't break into the starting lineup.

Northwestern has the likes of 6-8 Jim Sarno and sharpshooters Terry Gamber, Dale Kelley, Don Davis and Don Adams. If the Wildcats can cut down on mistakes and turnovers, they could prove troublesome.

Coach John Benington is playing down his chances at Michigan State and that's the time to be wary of the Spartans. They also have a veteran lineup led by Lee Lafayette.

Lou Watson's Hoosiers at Indiana will be big but slow. But they figure to be unpredictable as usual. In the last three seasons under Watson, Indiana has finished last, first and last. Larry Gipson, a 5-10 sophomore, figures to crack into the starting lineup. With that kind of size, he must be some kind ofplayer.

Michigan's hopes rest on the aching back of Rudy Tomjanovich, who has tremendous talent but suffers from spinal difficulties. Wisconsin is high on 6-9 Craig Mayberry, a junior college transfer, and Minnesota would like to see 6-8 sophomore Tom Masterson make good.

Northern Cagers Open Under New Head Coach

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University and its new head basketball coach, Glenn Brown, open the 1968-69 cage season this weekend against Centenary College in the first game of a three-game road trip against major opponents.

Before the Wildcats return home late next week, they will play Tulane University and Big Ten co-champion Iowa.

The Centenary game is Saturday night in Shreveport, La., at 8 p.m. CST. Centenary has a new head coach in Joe Swank, who is seeking to get the Gentlemen off to a winning start after a disastrous 3-23 season last year.

Monday night Northern moves into New Orleans for an 8 p.m. CST meeting with the Green Wave of Tulane. Coach Ralph Pederson, 12-12 a year ago, is reported to have one of the better teams in Tulane history with 12 returning lettermen.

The Wildcats will be in Iowa City Wednesday night for a 7:30 CST contest against the Iowa Hawkeyes. Coach Ralph Miller has five lettermen back from his Big Ten co-championship club of last season, including four starters.

Brown, an assistant at Northern last year, also has four starters returning from an NMU team that posted a 16-8 record last season.

Captain Mike Boyd, a 6'5" senior, and Ted Rose, 6'6" junior and last year's MVP, will start at forwards, and 5'10" junior Terry King and 6'3" senior veteran Dave Kovack will be at the guards.

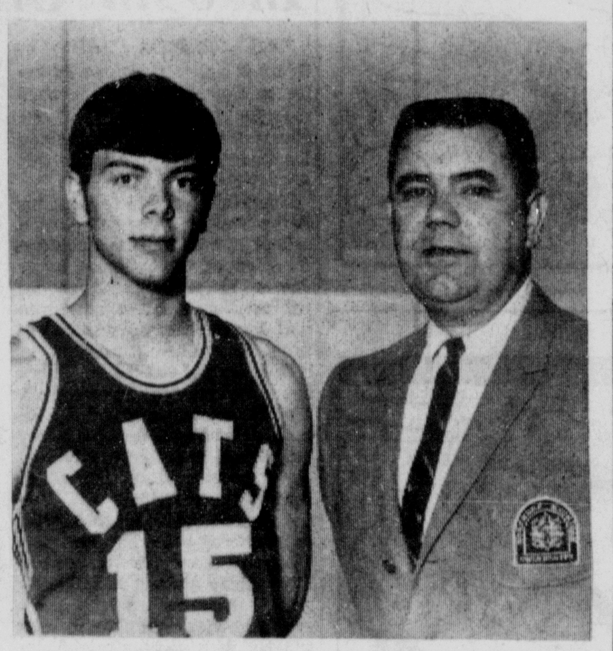

The newcomer in the starting unit is 6'6" sophomore Al Inkala, of Wakefield, Mich., at center.

Brown believes Rose, hampered by a broken thumb though most of pre-season practice, will be "almost back to normal by Saturday."

Rose had the cast and protective pin removed from the thumb November 20, then hit 27 points and 18 rebounds in the annual Green-White intrasquad game five days later.

"Ted picked up some bad habits while the cast was on," Brown cautioned. "I just hope he can shake them off during this road trip."

The Wildcats return to the NMU campus to start their home schedule Saturday, Dec. 7, against North Dakota State, then play at home again Monday, Dec. 9, against Pan American College.

Sixteen Games On Tap In Grid Season Finale

By The Associated Press

Houston and Florida State play a college football game tonight in the Gator Bowl but their high-powered offenses may turn it into the Scoreboard Bowl.

The game is the only one on tonight's schedule. Four were played Thursday as two bowl berths were settled and 16 more are on tap Saturday as the regular season comes to a close, save for the Dec. 7 meeting in University Park, Pa., between Penn State and Syracuse.

Texas won its way into a Cotton Bowl date against Tennessee by trouncing traditional rival Texas A&M 35-14 Thursday.

The victory gained the Longhorns a share of the Southwest Conference championship with Arkansas but Texas goes to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of a 39-29 win over the Razorbacks. Arkansas settled for the Sugar Bowl against unbeaten Georgia.

Elsewhere, Liberty Bowl-bound Virginia Tech walloped VMI 55-6, Tulsa sent Wichita State to a winless season 23-7 and, in a night game, Louisiana Tech, which is in the Grantland Rice Bowl, knocked off its fourth major opponent 42-24.

Saturday's slate is highlighted by the meeting in Los Angeles between second-ranked Southern California and No. 9 Notre Dame. Other top attractions include Army-Navy, Georgia Tech-Georgia, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Oklahoma-Oklahoma State, Alabama-Auburn and Arizona State-Arizona.

Tonight's pairing should be a wild one. Houston, ranked 10th, is the top offensive team in the nation with an all-time mark of 5,185 yards. The Cougars also lead in scoring with an average of 45 points a game.

Paul Gipson is fifth in rushing with 1,386 yards and the Ken Bailey-to-Elmo Wright combination is a passing threat. The Cougars have slaughtered Idaho 77-3 and Tulsa 100-6 in their last two starts. To make matters worse, they rank fifth nationally in total defense.

"We've got a chance against Houston," said Coach Bill Peterson of Florida State, "in spite of the fact they have what may just be the best college football team in America."

The Seminoles have a potent air attack of their own. Flanker Ron Sellers ranks this season in receiving and has gained more career yards than anyone in history, 3,384. Bill Cappleman does the throwing.

Texas raced to a 35-0 halftime lead over the Texas Aggies behind a balanced attack and a defense that intercepted five of Edd Hargett's passes. Chris Gilbert gained 85 yards in 25 carries and finished his regular season career third among all-time runners with 3,231 yards.

Quarterback Wayne Humphries passed for three touchdowns in his first varsity start to lead Virginia Tech over VMI. The defense picked off four passes and recovered two fumbles as the Gobblers made Turkey Day a field day.

Mike Stripling completed 26 of 51 passes for 336 yards and two touchdowns as Tulsa turned back stubborn Wichita State. The Hurricanes led only 3-0 but Stripling threw scoring passes of 16 yards to Harry Wood and seven to Les Bogers in the final period.

Worsley Jittery After Plane Ride To Chicago

MONTREAL (AP) — The age of speeding jetliners has grounded one of the National Hockey League's top players until next week at least.

Lorne "Gump" Worsley, 39, a 15-year veteran of the NHL's goaltending wars, is expected to decide on his future with the Montreal Canadiens next week after undergoing treatment from the club doctor.

Worsley met with Sam Pollock, vice-president and general manager of the club, in an hour-long session Thursday following Worsley's sudden departure from the club in Chicago Tuesday after a rough flight from Montreal.

A club statement said Worsley had said he wanted to have consultations with Dr. D. G. Kinnear, the team physician, and a complete opportunity to settle his nerves before arriving on a decision whether to continue for the Canadiens on a full-time basis or retire.

"Worsley is obviously very upset," Pollock said after his meeting with the chubby netminder. "His nerves have been bad all season and the flight to Chicago apparently was the breaking point."

Montreal was en route to Los Angeles for a Wednesday night game against the Kings when Worsley chose to return to Montreal by train rather than face the additional four-hour flight to the West Coast city.

"He doesn't expect any special treatment," Pollock said. "His decision will be to return to the team as a regular or retire."

Pollock did not know whether the club doctor would prescribe a rest but said:

"We should know Worsley's decision some time next week."

Worsley, twice name co-winner of the Vezina Trophy as the league's top netminder, suffers from a fear of flying and has been under considerable strain since the NH expanded to a two-division 12-team league last season to take in such distance cities at Los Angeles, Oakland, Minneapolis and St. Louis.

"After the plane trip to Chicago, I simply got off the plane and said 'that's it' and right now I don't feel any better about it," he said. "I just couldn't go any more."

Worsley has been unhappy with his position with the team, spending time on the bench.

He recently complained of back pains but doctors were unable to find anything wrong with the goalbender. Worsley was told it was his nerves.

"You don't think something like that worries a guy? Here I am walking around with a backache and nobody can find anything wrong with my back," he said.

In nine appearances for the Canadiens this year, Worsley has allowed 17 goals and earned one shutout for a 1.97 goals-against average.

Baker Leads Eagles Over Hapless Lions

DETROIT (AP)— The Detroit Lions apparently had their minds on Thanksgiving Day turkeys instead of National Football League Eagles Thursday.

The result was an embarrassing mud and rain-soaked 12-0 shutout at the hands of the previous winless Philadelphia Eagles, who weren't about to be carved up by the Lions in the annual holiday game.

It was the toe of Sam Baker that brought the Eagles their points and their first win since the last game of 1967. He kicked field goals in all four quarters on boots of 36, 18, 32 and 35 yards to move into second place among the NFL's all-time scorers with 893 points. Only retired Lou "the Toe" Groza of Cleveland has more (1,349).

"He did a hulluva job in a day like this," said Lion Coach Joe Schmidt in the gloomy Detroit dressing room.

"If it wasn't for him it would have been a 0-0 shot and would have run into extra innings," he said jokingly.

Baker said he didn't kick any differently than he has been but praised Joe Scarpati.

"Scarpati is the holder and he just did a good job," Baker said, as he peeled off his wet, muddy uniform.

He said he didn't know he became the second leading scorer of all-time in the NFL with his 18-yard field goal in the second quarter because, "this hasn't exactly been a year when we've been running checks through the record books."

Baker said the sloppy field, which was like a swamp in some areas, didn't bother him.

"You don't think about it because you're doing so much," he said.

Statistically it was an even game. Detroit's total yardage was a miniscule 168 yards to Philadelphia's 166. The Lions rushed for 102 yards to the Eagles' 117, and passed for 66 compared with Philadelphia's 49.

But the Eagles were able to at least get within field goal range. Detroit's only real scoring threat was squelched with one minute left in the game when Nate Ramsey intercepted a Gregg Landry pass on the Eagles' five-yard line.

Landry was Detroit's quarterback in place of the ailing Bill Munson. He completed only seven of 15 passes for 66 yards and due to the sloppy field had to rely mostly on his running game.

Tom Nowatzke made a rare game-starting appearance because, according to Schmidt, he's better in the mud than other backs. He collected 53 yards rushing on 14 carries. Nick Eddy added another 27 on 12 tries.

"I'll take the blame for it (the loss) because I was the quarterback," Landry said, "but I felt real confident in there."

He said he was forced to throw to secondary receivers on several occasions because of "the defense they gave us."

"We were going to try to get an outside attack going because they're tough up the middle, but the rain killed that game plan," he added.

Philadelphia's Norm Snead had to stick to the ground too. He completed six of 15 passes for 55 yards. It was Tom Woodeshick who carried the bulk of the offensive load by rushing 79 yards in 27 carries. Izzy Lang added 15 yards in nine tries.

"I marveled at the way Lang and Woody held onto the ball," said Philadelphia Coach Joe Kuharich who said the victory gave "a tremendous lift to everybody."

Schmidt criticized the officiating. Detroit picked up eight penalties for 89 yards lost and many of them came during key situations.

"When you get so many on crucial third down situations it doesn't help any," he said.

Nowatzke agreed: "It seemed like everytime we were in a key situation we'd get a penalty."

Baker's first and fourth quarter field goals came after interceptions. Halfback Al Nelson intercepted a Landry pass at his own 38 and the Eagles moved 42 yards in eight plays to give Baker a shot at his 36-yarder.

In the fourth quarter linebacker Harold Wells nabbed a Landry aerial at the Eagle 31. Eighteen plays later Baker booted his 35-yard field goal.

It was the Lions' seventh straight game without a victory and eliminated them from any mathematical chance of winning the Central Division title. Their record is now 3-7-2.

As Schmidt stood in his office after the game, a priest knocked on the door, stuck his head in and said, "I'll wait for you out here."

Schmidt looked at reporters "Last rites," he commented.

Carney Scores Victory Over Redskins Quint

HERMANSVILLE — The Carney Wolves held off a second and third quarter rally by the Hermansville Redskins and went on to notch an 83-70 victory in a game played Wednesday night, giving the Wolves their first win of the season and evening their record at 1-1.

Behind 16-3 and 20-5, Hermansville came back to close the gap to 24-20 in the second quarter and to lead by four points in the third quarter, but a 50-point second half by the Wolves enabled them to come out on the top end of the final score.

Scoring whiz Tim Moran led Carney in scoring, dropping in nine field goals and three free throws for 21 points. Also scoring in double figures for the Wolves were Dennis Lundquist with 18 points, Gerry Guard with 14 and David Lampinen with 11.

Marc Maga of Hermansville topped all scorers on the floor with 23 points on nine field goals and five free throws. Teammates Larry Raiche and Rick Arduin chipped in with 18 and 12 respectively in the losing cause.

Hermansville is now 0-2 on the season and play their next game at home on Dec. 3 against Powers. Carney is off until Dec. 6 when they travel to National Mine.

North Dakota Defeats Duluth

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—North Dakota rushed to a two goal lead after one period and went on to defeat Minnesota-Duluth 4-1 Thursday night in Western Collegiate Hockey Association play.

Left wing Dave Kartio, who already has seven goals in league play, scored two more to lead the Sioux to their fifth win in as many starts. Duluth is now 1-2 in league play.

The score was tied 1-1 halfway through the first period on Kartio's first goal and an answering shot by Duluth's Ron Busniuk. But Dave Hudson and Kartio each tallied in the final five minutes of the period to put North Dakota ahead for good.

Sioux goalie Gary Severson was called on to make just 17 stops compared to 36 for Bulldog netminder Glenn Resch.

The two teams meet here again tonight.

St. Louis Wins Eighth In Row

DETROIT (AP)—Red Berenson scored his 12th and 13th goals Thursday night and Glenn Hall was near unbeatable in goal as the St. Louis Blues stretched their unbeaten string to eight games with a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League.

Craig Cameron netted the Blues' other goal to spoil the Wings' homecoming before 13,905 fans after a 2½-week road trip.

Gordie Howe scored his 699th career goal his 11th this season and fifth in three games, during a first period power play to give Detroit the lead, but Hall was uncanny after that.

St. Louis, the West Division leader, now has won four and tied four, and all but two of the games were against teams from the established East Division.

Berenson started the comeback at 9:49 of the second period when he scored on Al Arbour's rebound. The big, veteran defenseman also set up Berenson's clinching goal at 4:05 of the third period when he stopped a Detroit assault and then relayed the puck ahead to Bronson and Camille Heney.

Berenson finished off the rush just in front of the net, beating goalkeeper Roger Crozier.

In between, Cameron was set up by another veteran defenseman, Doug Harvey, for his sixth goal. Harvey hit Cameron 15 feet out and he fired it by Crozier at 18:02 of the second period for a 2-1 lead.

Dallas Clinches First Place Tie

By The Associated Press

Joe Kuharich, perhaps the most troubled man in the ranks of pro football head coaches, finally won one. Which could make him a loser.

Kuharich, however, didn't seem concerned with the possibility of losing the first draft pick—probably Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson—after his Philadelphia Eagles snapped an 11-game losing string Thanksgiving Day with a 12-0 victory over Detroit.

"The draft is beyond here," Kuharich said after the longest losing string of the pro season ended in the mud and goo at Detroit.

"We play the season. We're concerned with winning and playing a game and that's all we work towards now."

Dallas, meanwhile, clinched at least a tie for the top spot in the National Football League's Capitol Division with a 29-20 verdict over Washington in the only other NFL game played—a verdict that left Redskin Coach Otto Graham hopping mad.

"I thought the officials stole the game from us," Graham said after the Redskins were assessed 124 yards in penalties, many of them at crucial times.

In the American Football League, Kansas City whipped Houston 24-10, allowing idle New York to clinch the Eastern Division title, and Oakland clipped Buffalo 13-10. That dropped Buffalo's record to 1-11-1 and possibly put the Bills in position to claim the first draft pick.

In the NFL Sunday, Atlanta is at Baltimore, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Green Bay at San Francisco, Los Angeles at Minnesota, New York at Cleveland and Chicago at New Orleans.

Jim Ninowski, subbing for the ailing Sonny Jurgensen, passed for three touchdowns and a 21-19 Washington lead before Dallas rallied and clinched at least a share of the Capitol title. To gain a tie, second-place New York must win its three remaining games and Dallas must lose its last two.

The Redskins were hurt by penalties, including a pass interference call that set up a Dallas touchdown. And Graham also drew a 15 yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct.

"I thought the officials stole the game from us," Graham growled. "I've written the league officials several times complaining about the officiating. But never has it been this bad. I don't mind getting beat, and I can appreciate that the officials have judgment calls to make.

"But I think it's about time we got some officials who have judgment."

Referee Norm Schacter heads the officials team that included Joe Connell, Burl Toler, Jack Fette, Adrian Burk and George Ellis.

Dallas went ahead, 22-20, on a fourth-quarter field goal by Mike Clark and nailed it down on a pass interception by rookie tackle Larry Cole.

Cowboy tackle Jethro Pugh hit Ninowski just as he was releasing the ball, resulting in a wobbly pass which Cole picked off on the Redskins five and rumbled in for the touchdown that clinched it.

Denny McLain set a record for the Tigers by striking out 280 batters in 1968.

Army Rated Favorite In 69th Grid Meeting

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army is a two-touchdown favorite in Saturday's 69th football meeting with Navy, but the ghosts of upsets past have made the Cadets wary of odds in this annual classic.

Everything points to an easy Army victory before the usual sellout crowd of 100,000 at John F. Kennedy Stadium. Army comes in with a 7-2 record against Navy's 2-7. Against mutual opponents Army won two of three, Navy one of three.

In sizing up the teams, Army has a decided edge in personnel, and has shown to advantage on both offense and defense. Navy has shown little but the typical Navy heart and all out effort against superior foes.

Army therefore should win, but anything could happen.

Anyone care to remember 1948? Army arrived in Philadelphia unbeaten with eight straight victories. Navy was winless with eight straight defeats. Navy came up with a 21-21 tie.

Recall 1950? Army brought an 8-0 record into the traditional service game. Navy was 2-6. Again, the game had all the earmarks of a Cadet walkover. Navy won 14-2.

Let's go back to last year. Army was 8-1, the Middies a so-so 4-4-1. The pre-game experting had the Cadets a handy winner. A stirred Navy team, however, latched onto a fumble at the Navy 25 with 4:53 to play and held on to win 19-14.

This season Army has defeated The Citadel, Vanderbilt, California, Rutgers, Duke, Boston College and Pittsburgh. The Cadets lost 7-3 to Missouri and just missed knocking over unbeaten Penn State in a 28-24 thriller.

Navy has been thumped by Penn State, Boston College, Michigan, Air Force, Virginia, Notre Dame and Syracuse. The Middies beat hapless Pitt by a point and surprised Georgia Tech.

Army, directed by quarterback Steve Lindell, operates from a wing and slot T with a split end and has good balance between running and passing. Lindell is accomplished with the rollout and favors tight end Gary Steele when he passes.

Fullback Charlie Jarvis, who has gained 1,022 yards and scored eight touchdowns this year is the Cadets' big running threat.

Navy is guided by a promising sophomore quarterback, Mike McNallen, who has a fine receiver in tight end Mike Clark. Don Pike and Tom Daley are the Middies' running threats.

All the known factors point to Army's 33rd victory against 30 defeats and six ties in the series. It's the unknown elements, however, which disrupt the form in this game and make it unpredictable. Navy will pull all the stops and has the natural incentive of an underdog.

76ers Notch 2nd Win Over Lakers

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers might not be doing quite as well without Wilt Chamberlain as they did with him, but they are doing very well against him.

The 76ers ran their record to 2-0 against the Wilt Chamberlain-led Los Angeles Lakers with a 122-107 victory Thursday night that put them only 1½ games out of the lead in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

Front and center in the victory was Luke Jackson, Chamberlain's replacement in the post, who canned seven of eight field goal tries and assisted on two others during a last half surge that destroyed the Western Division-leading Lakers.

In the only other NBA game, Seattle topped Milwaukee 115-103 on the West Coast.

In the American Basketball Association, Minnesota belted Miami 120-107 and Dallas beat the New York Nets 110-103.

After 11 lead changes, the host 76ers pulled away from the game's 16th tie at 71 with a 13-2 burst, and Los Angeles never recovered as Chamberlain managed only 13 points and 19 rebounds against his old mates, who he led to a world championship two years ago. The Lakers, too, were playing without Jerry West, who was sidelined with the flu.

Jackson hit three baskets and got the two assists during the spree as the 76ers won their ninth game in 10 starts. He finished with 24 points, while Bill Cunningham led the 76ers with 28. Elgin Baylor had 32 for the Lakers.

Seattle, in whipping Milwaukee, won its fourth straight game—the first time the Supersonics have registered four victories in a row since they joined the league last season. Three of the triumphs have been at the expense of Bucks while the other came over Chicago.

The Sonics virtually led from the outset and by halftime they were in front 55-48. Twice Milwaukee closed the gap to four points in the fourth quarter but each time Seattle pulled safely ahead.

The Sonics' Bob Rule and the Bucks' Wayne Embry shared scoring laurels with 27 points apiece.

Pro Gridders Playing For Big Money Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw out the form sheets this weekend, men. This is the time of year when big money is hanging on every touchdown in games played in snow, rain and sunshine by clubs that have been hit by injuries and illness.

Before the weekend is over the Green Bay Packers could be back on top. The Los Angeles Rams and Baltimore Colts will have a hint if they're going down to the wire to the that final game, Dec. 15.

Dallas may know if it will have to sweat it out with New York until the last day. Cleveland may be able to start selling tickets for the Dec. 21 Eastern Conference playoff.

Anybody who can escape with his skin this week deserves a standing vote. Oh well, only two more weeks after this one. Let's try once more. All games are Sunday.

NFL

Baltimore 31, Atlanta 10—The Falcons made it close the first time, 28-20, but those Colts are sniffing that big Super Bowl money and not to be denied. The Colts will deck Bob Berry more times than Dempsey downed Firpo. Falcon pass defense target practice for Earl Morrall. Last home game at the old Colt corral.

New Orleans 17, Chicago 16—How do you figure this one? Saints playing quarterbacks who are hurt and the Bears are back with Jack Concannon. Bears may have shot their last rocket in fist brawl with Cowboys last week. Charlie Durkee vs. Mac Percival, and may the better man emerge triumphant, as they say in the fight clubs.

Cleveland 31, New York 28 — Browns have won six straight and Giants still are shaken by that heartbreaker in Los Angeles. Combination of Leroy Kelly, Ernie Green and passing of Bill Nelsen figure too much for Giants' defense, which is coming on strong but may not be ready for this test. Count on Fran Tarkenton to shake up those new men in the Browns' defense. He might even pull it off for desperate Giants. Stick around to the end.

Los Angeles 13, Minnesota 10 — The weatherman could shake up those warm-weather Rams in hostile climate. Vikings never stopped hitting despite loss in Baltimore. If they had more offense, we'd pick Vikings. They still could pull it out but you don't run on those Rams.

St. Louis 28, Pittsburgh 21—Once again, without great conviction. The Steelers led 21-0 at halftime when they played 28-28 tie Nov. 10. Steeler offense alive under Dick Shiner but interceptions are deadly. Cards' pass defense will need super effort bit it's a must win for St. Louis to stay alive.

Green Bay 24, San Francisco 14—The name of the game still is defense. The Packers have it, especially against the passing game. Ken Willard will run on them but they must shut off John Brodie's air game. Return of Bart Starr should give Packers a lift.

Dallas, Washington, Detroit and Philadelphia are idle after Thursday games.

AFL

Cincinnati 21, Boston 16—Patriots' leaky defense vulnerable to the run and Bengals have one of the best in rookie Paul Robinson with 912 yards. Neither club has a top flight quarterback, especially behind weak offensive lines.

New York 28, Miami 21—Joe Namath vs. Bob Griese should set up a pretty fair air war at Shea Stadium where Jets are ready to start tuning up for title game. Jets can't get by with one of those so-so efforts they sometimes turn in against lower clubs.

San Diego 27, Denver 14—With Dick Post and other Chargers lost to the Army, San Diego will have tough time ticking with Oakland and Kansas City down the stretch. This could be fatal unless John Hadl bounces back strong from New York disaster.

Houston, Kansas City, Oakland and Cincinnati are idle after playing Thursday.

Sensitive Production Is A Real Accomplishment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A mood piece, spun delicately with words, is difficult enough to pull off successfully. And to translate it effectively into another medium, television, is quite an accomplishment indeed.

Yet, for the second time, a sensitive production and acting team has managed to fashion a sensitive, moving and altogether memorable occasion out of what must be identified as a semiautobiographical vignette —drama is too powerful a word —by Truman Capote.

The first was 1966's "A Christmas Memory." On Thursday night it was "The Thanksgiving Memory," and it lived up, surprisingly, to expectations built by the first show.

Geraldine Page once again portrayed Miss Sook, the childlike, romantic and aging spinster with extraordinary human insight, the "best friend" and comforter of Buddy, a small lonely boy living with cousins during a crisis in his own family. Michael Kearney, once again in the role, was heart-rendingly effective as the boy.

The story line was simple: Buddy was harassed by an older, bigger bully and had no one to turn to except the loving and sympathetic Sookie, herself bullied by two hard-eyed sisters and a stern, unsympathetic brother.

Buddy, too small to stand up to the bully and too young to talk up to his elders, suffered. Miss Sook dreamed of far-away places and pinned all her dreams on selling a cameo pin that she fondly believed was worth enough money to carry her and Buddy from the farm home to the excitements of New Orleans.

The suspense came from Miss Sook's determination to convert the bully by inviting him to their Thanksgiving dinner. The plan worked until Buddy saw his enemy stealing the cameo—it was worthless—and summoned all his courage to denounce him at the table. The unexpected twist came with Miss Sook's bitter disappointment at Buddy's cruel action—"The greatest sin is to deliberately hurt another person."

Around this simple, nostalgic story, producer Frank Perry and his wife, Eleanor, who adapted Capote's gossamer, memoir to television, introduced some fascinating country types —members of Miss Sook's family, from the colorful matriarch with a secret recipe for banana pudding to a flirtatious young cousin. The photography was effective and perfectly in the mood of the hour.

Altogether it was a fine hour, Its one flaw seemed to be the choice of Capote himself as narrator: his high voice and careful pronunciation was not quite right in the context, even if he did write it and it was his story.

One hopes that, in spite of the seasonal aspect of the hour, ABC will find time some night soon when there are not as many holiday demands on the potential audience, ot rerun the program.

MAKING THEIR own Christmas tree decorations has become a popular activity for many homemakers the past several years and pictured here are several attractive tree balls made with hundreds of fancy pins and accented with sequins, ribbons, etc. Also pictured is a candle centerpiece and a pine cone wreath tree gilded and decorated with colorful balls. Bushfires Kill 5 In Sydney Area

SYDNEY (AP) — Five men are dead, seven are missing and about 200 injured in midsummer bushfires that caused millions of dollars worth of damage within a 50-mile radius of Sydney in the past two days.

The fire danger diminished in Sydney's outer suburbs today as the wind abated and temperatures dropped 20 degrees from Thursday's high of 90.

Isolated fires still burned in the Blue Mountains 50 miles west of Sydney but they were reported under control.

A thousand firefighters including professionals, volunteers and soldiers stood by to prevent a recurrance of Thursday's disaster when flames destroyed 150 houses, shops, churches and other buildings.

Purchased Coho As Service: Blackport

MANISTEE (AP)—The president of a packing firm has defended his company's purchases of surplus coho salmon as an effort to "do a service for the state of Michigan."

Marvin Blackport, president of Blackport Packing Co. of Grand Rapids, told some 200 persons Monday night at a hearing by a joint Senate-House conservation committee that his firm bid a high of 15.6 cents a pound to obtain the fish.

Blackport, whose firm purchased the surplus salmon from the State Conservation Department at Manistee, said that commercial fishermen and Manistee residents could have obtained the fish for 10 cents a pound.

But, he said, neither private individuals nor the commercial fishermen showed up at the times the surplus fish were sold. He said his firm bought about 1.6 million pounds of Coho salmon this year.

The hearing was held to determine public viewpoints on rules regarding the Coho salmon. A number of witnesses urged liberalization of restrictions against snagging Coho salmon in rivers.

HUMBOLDT CURRENT

Humboldt current is another name for the Peruvian current, a cool ocean current which flows northward along the western coast of South America.

MGM Management About To Change

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's a funny thing about this town," said a veteran MGM studio official. "People are ready to bury you while you're still breathing."

Dire predictions concerning the state of MGM's health have been made because of recent symptoms. Long wracked by struggles for power within the corporation, MGM is finally due for a change of management. Financier Edgar M. Bronfman won control of MGM and a new president is being sought to succeed Robert H. O'Brien.

Fit Production

How the switch in power will affect the Culver City studio is a matter of great concern in the film capital. This concern intensified with the news that the studio had disbanded its casting, makeup and music departments. It seemed like a drastic move for MGM, once the best-staffed studio in Hollywood.

A studio official explained: "MGM is tailoring its operation to fit the production schedule for the coming year. There will be increased activity in independent productions to be released through MGM. The independent producers will be able to select their own personnel to handle casting, music, etc.

"The studio now employes 1,800 full-time employes, compared to 2,000 to 2,500 during peak periods. So you can see the studio is not dead yet."

Plan New Studio

But it is obviously ailing. MGM's management has still not decided what to do with the sprawling studio which once put forth a feature movie per week. Its huge sound stages remain empty and almost unused. In the past few years television series like "Dr. Kildare" and "The Man From Uncle" kept some of the stages occupied. But MGM had no series on the networks this season.

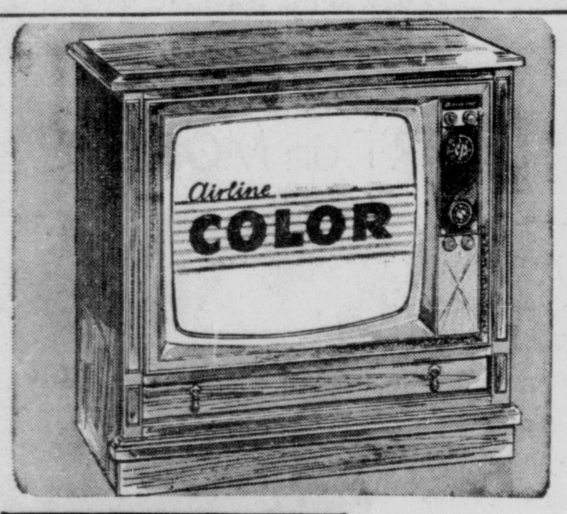

During his years as president of MGM, O'Brien fostered a plan to sell off the Culver City real estate and create a brand-new studio in the Conejo Valley 40 miles north of Los Angeles. Property was optioned and plans sketched out, but little has been heard about the plan in recent months.

The reason is obvious. MGM has other problems to settle before it can build a new studio.

The problems were visible in the recent financial statement for fiscal 1968. Profits were down a third, from $14,029,000 to $9,409,000. MGM Records dropped from a $2 million profit to a $4 million deficit. Film rentals fell almost $2 million to $21½ million; TV network sales dropped a half-million to $1.2 million. The drop in all divisions was precipitous in the second half of the fiscal year.

NO SNAKES

In North America no snakes are found as far north as the 60th parallel, although some species of garter snakes have been found as far north as the 50th in western Canada.
